EXILED PRINCE SIHANOUK (L) AND PRESIDENT LON NOL. (UPI Telephoto)

Cambodians Make Request to U. S.

Lon Nol Ouster Is Asked

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Several high-ranking members of the Cambodian government have asked the Nixon administration to arrange for the ouster of President Lon Nol and the immediate restoration to power of exiled Prince Norodom Sihanouk, according to well-informed sources.

The sources said Sunday that if the Nixon administration agrees, Henry A Kissinger would bring up such a proposal to Chinese leaders when he visits Peking.

Sihanouk would at the same time be approached by Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and any prior conditions he may wish to impose will be relayed to the Cambodian regime before the plan is put into action, according to the sources, who asked UPI correspondent Sylvana Foa that they not be identified by name.

Today, however, Cambodian Information Minister Sum Chhum told a Phnom Penh news conference Lon Nol and the entire cabinet will remain in the capital and fight the war so long as aggression by the North Vietnamese continues.

"The president will remain with us," Sum Chhum said. "The members of the cabinet have no idea of leaving."

An integral part of the plan would be the prior removal of President Lon Nol and key members of his regime from the country by the United States, the sources said.

In Washington, Kissinger said the reports do not "seem to be true" when questioned about them. "I'm not familiar with anything like that," Kissinger said in a telephone interview from his White House office. "I'm not familiar with any major new developments at this point."

Kissinger also said he knew of no new communications from Sihanouk to Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader who was reported to have been sent a cable by Sihanouk.

"We have not heard from Mansfield and if he had received such a cable, he would have called me," Kissinger said. He also said there was no date set for his next trip to Peking.

One high level Cambodian said, "The Americans will probably have to use force to get Lon Nol to leave but face can be saved on both sides if he is taken to a hospital in the United States for treatment." Lon Nol is crippled from a stroke.

Mansfield and Sihanouk have been friends for years. Mansfield taught Southeast Asian affairs in college and is regarded as one of the most informed members of Congress in that field.

Immediately after Lon Nol's departure, the sources said, the rest of the Phnom Penh government would telegraph Sihanouk at his Peking-based government-in-exile urging him to return immediately to Cambodia to take over.

"Now it is up to the Americans. If Nixon insists upon continuing his support of Lon Nol, if Nixon insists that Lon Nol must remain, then we are all lost..."

"Sihanouk is no Communist. He is first and foremost a nationalist," said one Cambodian in the upper echelons of the regime. "He loves his country and he knows that Cambodians could not live happily in a Communist state."

Koenig Regretfully Signs Grand Union Legislation

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — Legislation which would allow Grand Union to construct a supermarket on St. Anne's property on Broadway has been signed by Mayor Francis R. Koenig "with regrets."

The mayor, who last year vetoed similar legislation, said his final decision was influenced by the "affirmative vote of the downtown aldermen who are closest to the residents affected by the location of a proposed large competitive food market." "will continue to seek a solution" to what he terms "this most frustrating problem."

Koenig explained that since April 1972, when contracts were signed with the developers of City Hall Shopping Plaza, members of his administration worked long and hard to make available to the residents of downtown Kingston a shopping center which would supply everyday living needs such as a food store, drug store, restaurant, bank and laundromat. Similar businesses were taken away from downtown residents through urban renewal, he said, adding that the problem has been time consuming and frustrating.

But, we are continuing to work on it, the mayor said. "The need is here and all of us must work to help develop this last major parcel in our Broadway East Urban Renewal Project.

He suggested that plans as to how City Hall Shopping Plaza will now be developed to provide retail and service outlets for the downtown section may undergo a complete review and possible revision.

Koenig said he will adopt a "wait and see" posture for the present until specific plans for the St. Anne's site are revealed.

The mayor initially tried to persuade the Grand Union supermarket chain to locate in Broadway East. Reportedly the firm made studies of both areas as to potential and then decided on St. Anne's. That property has been for sale for a number of years.

The Grand Union proposal calls for an 18,000 foot supermarket at the corner of Orchard Street and Broadway with parking for about 100 cars. The St. Anne's property is tax exempt and has been vacant for several years.

Fast Action on $581,000

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — The City of Kingston wasted no time in paying some $581,000 to the county in back taxes on Friday, after Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago threatened a court suit, but the city has no intention, according to Mayor Francis R. Koenig, of turning over some $45,000 in interest earned on that money while the city held it.

Savago declared his intentions to commence legal action against the city for recovery of taxes owed the county at Thursday night's meeting of the Legislature. Savago's threat followed criticism of the county's fiscal policies where some Democratic legislators claimed the county should be placing more of its money in interest-bearing accounts. "Pete got pretty hot under the collar," said one legislator. The attack on the city followed.

The city, Savago said, was supposed to pay the county $581,971, representing the first half installment on the county tax levy, on March 1, but payment wasn't received until June 29. And, Savago charged, the city was to have paid the second $581,971 on June 1. As of Thursday night no payment had been forthcoming.

It came quickly, arriving at the county office building shortly before noon, on Friday, by messenger.

Mayor Koenig avoided questions as to whether the prompt payment on the city's part was prompted by Savago's attack. "I signed the check this morning (Friday) when I came in the office," Koenig said. "It was all ready for me."

As for the estimated $45,000 in interest the city earned on the county money while holding it, Koenig said, "I have no intention of giving them the interest. "It's not their money until they get paid. We collected it for them. It's a bill that we owed."

Koenig did say he intends to pay the county its money on time in the future. He said that he will recommend to the Common Council a revision in the charter allowing for payment of county taxes on four dates, March 1, June 1, Sept. 1 and Dec. 1 instead of on March 1 and June 1 as now required.

While stating that any (city) taxpayer who failed to pay his taxes on time would be penalized, Koenig cited precedent in the city's failure to pay the county on time, in the case of the first payment, late by 71 days, in the case of the second, late by 121 days. "Orrie (former city treasurer and now a clerk in the treasurer's office, Orrie R. Riehl) tells me we've been paying (the second half) in September for the past 10 years," Koenig said.

County Treasurer Fred C. DuBois confirmed that the city is usually late with its tax payments. "I've always had to ask for it and sometimes it's been delayed even after it was requested." DuBois says he doesn't have that problem with the 20 townships in the county, most of which pay on a monthly basis. "They're always very prompt," he said.

As far as recovering the interest the city earned, DuBois says, "I don't know if there's any provision for the county to charge them for it. It's just that if we'd had it (the money) we would have had the advantage" of investing the money in interest-bearing accounts.

DuBois told the Freeman that the city's first payment of $581,971 was appropriated but that the very day he received the second $581,971 (Friday) he invested it. "We're getting 9.8 per cent on it," DuBois said, an indication as to why the city tried to hold on to the money as long as possible.

Chairman Savago said he was "thinking over" a possible law suit against the city on that interest.

Ulster County Fair—Fond Memories

Ulster County Fair, 1973 version, is just a memory now but for these youngsters it is a fond recollection. Brian Sheldon and Mark Macenka of Boy Scout Troop 103, Hurley, demonstrated their cooking skill by making pancakes hobo style. Sherry Rider of Accord, meanwhile, walked off with first prize for her junior calf Dixie and first prize for showmen in the beginner's class. During the three-day event at the New Paltz fairgrounds, attendance was down somewhat from last year. According to Douglass Bartow, fair manager, this year's estimated attendance was 17,000. He noted that there is no charge for the admittance and therefore it is difficult to keep accurate attendance figures. Saturday night and Sunday fair attendance was the largest. Heat, humidity and scattered showers kept patrons away during the first fair day. Attractions this year included 4-H demonstrations and exhibits in all project categories, variety entertainment for all ages, arts, crafts and music. Finale featured the 4-H Parade of Champions as gala activities wound down Sunday afternoon. (Freeman Photos by Powell)

A New Phase With New Boosts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Phase IV of the administration's economic program began today. Officials expected it to be marked by new increases in prices in most products other than beef and petroleum.

The phase started at midnight when prices on most products were declared free to rise within a range laid out under rules administered by the Cost of Living Council (CLC).

Gasoline, home heating oil and other petroleum products will remain under the freeze an extra week until Aug. 19. Beef will remain under price ceilings until Sept. 12, unless the administration gives in to pressures caused by beef shortages.

Economic planners decided to thaw the freeze in stages in an effort to prevent a sudden price explosion and to give the economy time to absorb the higher prices that officials conceded are on the way.

Consumers will not feel the weight of some price increases until mid-September, because the largest corporations will have to give 30 days advance notice to the government before boosting prices.

The Phase IV rules also require businessmen to cut prices under certain conditions, but reductions are expected to be rare.

Administration officials said shoppers should brace for a new inflationary surge as companies race to mark up prices that were held in check during the two-month freeze.

The basic rule governing Phase IV allows a company to add a penny to its price tags for every cent it incurs in higher labor, raw material and other costs. Nothing extra can be added for profit.

Required to give the CLC 30 days advance notice before boosting prices are companies with annual sales of more than $100 million.

Internal Revenue Service agents have been assigned to insure the stabilization rules are being followed. The IRS has added 1,000 new employes to help run the monitoring system.

Phase IV's standards for wage increases remains the same as before: 5.5 per cent a year for wages and 0.2 per cent for fringe benefits.

Nixon's economic advisors have declined to state how long Phase IV will last. But they share the President's distaste for controls and insist Phase V will be "phase out."

With the Phase IV thaw of the price freeze beginning today, except for beef and petroleum, shoppers can expect higher prices. If there is a bright side, it is that the full effects will not be felt until next month.

The delay for some hikes comes from the fact that Phase IV requires companies with annual sales of $100 million or more to give the Cost of Living Council 30 days notice of price increases.

Under Phase IV, sellers can raise their prices, but only as much as their costs increase.

Gasoline and other petroleum prices will remain frozen for another week. Beef will continue under price controls the longest, until Sept. 12.

It is the freeze on beef that has brought the most criticism of Phase IV. It remained frozen when other food prices were decontrolled on June 13. While beef prices cannot be raised, the supply has dwindled.

New York's city purchasing commissioner, Marvin Gersten, said Sunday the city will begin buying cattle on the hoof because nobody wants to sell slaughtered beef. The beef probably would be purchased and slaughtered in the Midwest before being shipped to New York. This would probably cost more, $1 a pound compared with the ceiling price of 77 cents, but the city has no choice, Gersten said.

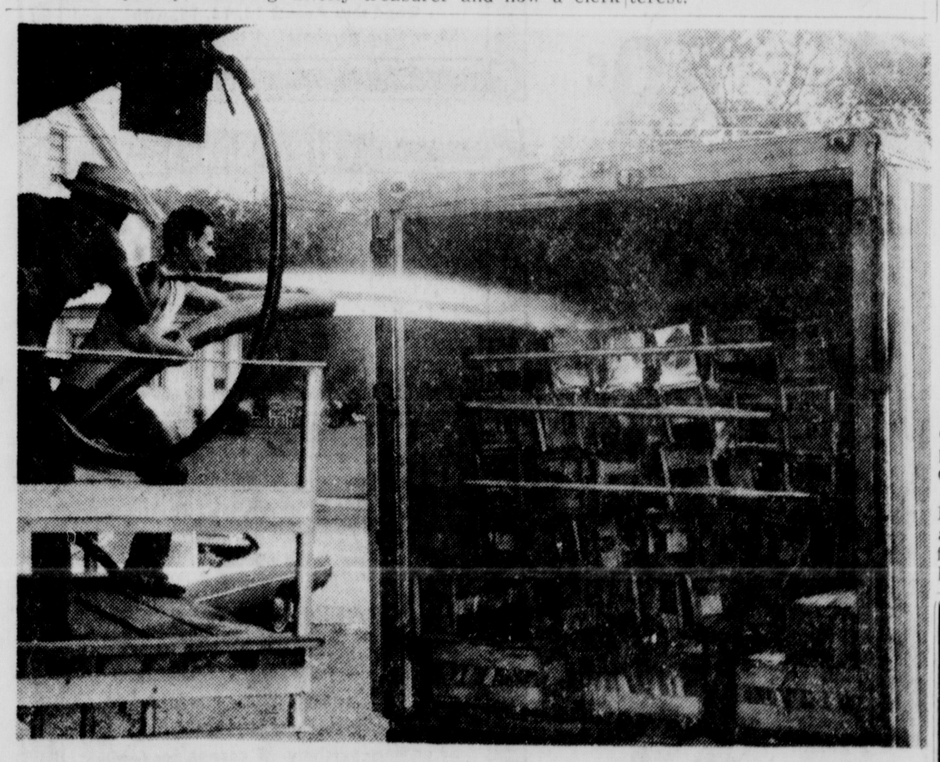

The Chinatown areas of San Francisco and Los Angeles have had a run on rice, although dealers say there appears to be no reason for a shortage. The run has pushed the price in San Francisco from $10 to $14.50 for a 50-pound sack.

Edward S. Farish, the chief game law enforcement officer in Alabama, says meat costs and shortages may triple illegal deer hunting in Alabama.

"An informer tells me a 'pair of eyes' (a fawn) brings $15 with no questions asked," Farish said. "A skinned adult goes for $40 to $35 and goes like hotcakes."

John A. Love, the administration's special assistant on the energy problem, said there are indications drivers are cutting back on gasoline consumption. Early in the year, the increase in demand for gasoline was estimated at 7.1 per cent. In June, the forecast had dropped to 3 per cent, he said.

Love conceded the government would have to use mandatory control if shortages bring an "actual crisis" in petroleum products.

THE FREEZE IS ON . . . AND OFF—Workers at the Binnewater Lake Ice Company in Kingston spray 7,200 pounds of crushed ice on a load of Hudson Valley corn that's being shipped to a Food Fair market in Florida. The coat of ice will keep the corn from spoiling during the three-day trip south. But with the start of the Phase IV economic program today, there's no telling how much these ears of corn will cost when they reach Florida. (Freeman Photo by Haines)

Special Grand Jury Meets On '72 Campaign and ITT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A special grand jury was convened today at the request of Watergate Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox to investigate a wide range of activities in the 1972 presidential campaign as well as the ITT antitrust settlement.

Judge John J. Sirica, chief of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, called the panel into session to inquire into matters separate from those being investigated by a grand jury that has been concentrating on the Watergate burglary and its aftermath.

Aides to Cox described the new grand jury as "a general purpose" panel. The original Watergate grand jury's tenure is to run out in December, although Sirica could extend its life.

While the jury will be looking into possible illegal practices—so-called dirty tricks—of the presidential campaign, it will also study conflicts connected with an antitrust suit filed by the government in 1969 against International Telephone & Telegraph Co.(ITT).

There have been allegations that the suit was settled by compromise partly in exchange for a pledge to underwrite some of the cost of the Republican National Convention when it was scheduled for San Diego.

Related administration stories on page 26.

Conflicting statements and testimony have emerged at congressional hearings and elsewhere concerning the negotiations which led to a consent decree issued by a federal court.

The government had sued to force ITT to shed three major affiliates, Hartford Fire Insurance Co., the Canteen Corp. and the Grinnell Corp.

The agreement allowed ITT to keep Hartford, while divesting the other two. Critics have charged that this was a victory for ITT.

Testimony of former Attorneys General John N. Mitchell and Richard G. Kleindienst and several ITT officers has been examined by Cox's office to ascertain if perjury had been committed.

The question of possible obstruction of justice also has been raised because of destruction of some documents related to the case.

The ITT case came up during the Senate Watergate hearings, now in recess, when it was reported that admitted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt had a hand in taking an ITT employe, Dita Beard, to a Denver Hospital after publication of a memo she was purported to have written about the alleged ITT convention arrangement.

The memo attributed to Mrs. Beard, addressed to an ITT superior in Washington, suggested that Mitchell was aware of the arrangement whereby ITT was to underwrite the Republican convention in San Diego. Mitchell denied it.

The convention later was moved to Miami and the ITT underwriting arrangement was never consummated.

Meanwhile, Cox assumed his more familiar role of constitutional lawyer today to deliver his response to the White House contention that the courts lack the authority to compel President Nixon to obey subpoenas.

The former U. S. solicitor general who heads the criminal investigation of the Watergate scandal issued a subpoena July 23, demanding the President produce tapes of nine conversations and documents.

When Nixon notified Cox and Sirica he would not turn over the tapes, the special prosecutor asked Sirica to order the President to obey the subpoena.

The White House responded with a 33-page brief in which it called Cox's attempt to get the tapes "a well-intentioned effort to obtain evidence for criminal prosecutions."

ANTIQUE SHOW SITE — The High Falls Firehall adjacent to the historic D&H Canal Locks, High Falls, will be the site of an antique show and sale. The event sponsored by the High Falls Civic Association will be held Aug. 24 and 25 from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. both days.

Youth Is Killed in Saugerties Crash

TOWN OF SAUGERTIES — A Hyde Park teenager was killed Sunday night when his car skidded on Route 32A in the Town of Saugerties and slammed into a rock wall and a telephone pole.

Thomas J. Wheeler, 19, of 19 Morgan Circle, was pronounced dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital. Two passengers riding in the back seat of his car were injured slightly.

Hurley state police said Wheeler was traveling south on Route 32A, about one-tenth of a mile north of Route 32, when he apparently lost control of the car. The vehicle skidded approximately 280 feet, went off the left side of the road, struck a rock wall and then a utility pole, and then rolled over on its roof, coming to rest in the northbound lane.

Injured in the accident were 18-year-old Kathy Lester of Staatsburg, who sustained abrasions and lacerations of the body, and 18-year-old Kevin Ruhle of Hyde Park, who suffered a fractured right knee and multiple lacerations. Miss Lester was reported in fair condition today at Benedictine Hospital; Ruhle was transferred to St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie at his own request. He is in fair condition.

Police authorities in Ulster County, meanwhile, searched several hours today for 18-year-old Joseph Winne of 40 Rondout Street, Kingston, who fled on foot after his car flipped over three times on Route 213 in Eddyville at 2:50 a.m. during a high-speed chase with city police. Police tried to stop Winne for reckless driving.

The car was demolished in the accident, but Winne nevertheless managed to extricate himself from the wreckage. He reportedly ran through a swamp and then jumped into the Rondout Creek. He was last seen swimming toward the Eddyville Bridge. He later turned up at Kingston Hospital.

Town of Esopus police, along with the Ulster County Sheriff's Department and the Kingston Police Department, searched throughout the Eddyville area today for Winne. Grappling operations were commenced in the Rondout Creek as a precaution. According to unofficial reports, Winne was injured in the crash, and left a trail of blood through the swamp to the banks of the creek.

A passenger in the car, 17-year-old Marilyn Horton of the Ciconne Trailer Park in Lake Katrine, was trapped inside the car's wreckage. She was treated at Benedictine Hospital and later released.

Police said they determined Winne's identity by tracing the car's registration.

Two-Alarm Blaze Described as 'Incendiary'

KINGSTON — Four city firefighters received slight injuries Sunday morning battling a raging two-alarm blaze at 545 Broadway that has been described as the work of an arsonist.

A second minor incendiary fire was reported late Sunday night. In each case, detectives of the Kingston Police Department have been asked to investigate.

The Sunday morning fire seriously damaged portions of a one and two-story brick warehouse owned by the Penn Central Transportation Company and leased to the John T. Groves General Trucking Co.

The fire was reported at 2:53 a.m. Sunday; a second alarm was sounded four minutes later. Pump streams from four responding engines were used to bring the fire under control.

Two storerooms in the two-story structure were destroyed; moderate heat, smoke and water damage was reported to an adjoining one-story warehouse.

The fire began in a first floor storeroom on the east side of the building.

Paid firefighters Wayne Platte and Paul Fisher were released from Kingston Hospital after treatment for carbon monoxide poisoning; volunteers Henry Slattery and Edward Tonczyk were injured slightly but did not require hospitalization.

Another incendiary fire was reported at 10:21 p.m. Sunday. A pile of brush and scrap materials was found ablaze in front of B. Millens and Sons, Inc. at 290-300 East Strand. There was no damage reported.

Bronx District Checks Reveals Income Fraud

NEW YORK (AP) — A check of two school districts in the Bronx has confirmed the widespread concealment of income by Board of Education employes seeking to qualify for welfare aid, according to a report by the state comptroller.

Such unmerited welfare payments to school paraprofessionals, lunchroom helpers, school aides and guards may have cost the city more than $11 million, Comptroller Arthur Levitt said in a report on Sunday.

The report followed a June 2 audit which indicated that many employes in Brooklyn had hidden all or part of their income to obtain welfare aid. A citywide projection estimated some $9 million in unmerited payments then.

The followup check of the Bronx school districts showed that 32 persons out of a sample 170 paraprofessionals and lunchroom helpers did not report a total of $140,000 in earnings over a three-year period to obtain public assistance, Levitt said.

The new inquiry also found welfare abuses among school aides and school guards.

Ten of every 56 persons in these categories were found to have unreported income totalling $25,952, the report showed.

Projected over 13,800 aides and guards citywide, Levitt said, the abuse could add another $2.1 million to the original estimate.

Party Caucus Planned By Town of Esopus GOP

PORT EWEN — The Town of Esopus Republican Party will caucus on Aug. 18 for the purpose of selecting its slate of candidates for the November general elections.

The caucus will be held at 8 p.m. at the Esopus Town Hall in Port Ewen, according to Republican town chairman Sol Rosenthal.

Positions that must be filled at the caucus included town supervisor, town clerk, tax collector, town justice, two councilmen (four-year terms) and one councilman (two-year term).

Rosenthal urged all registered Republicans in the town to attend and participate in the caucus.

Accused Houston Youth To Ask Psychiatric Exam

HOUSTON (AP) — With authorities continuing the search that has unearthed 23 bodies so far, one of the youths accused in some of the homosexual slayings here goes into court today to ask for a psychiatric examination.

Sheriffs from both Chambers and Galveston counties start digging again today along the Gulf of Mexico beach where two bodies were found Friday.

Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, faces his first court appearance. Police say Henley has admitted slaying nine of the young victims.

Also today, Houston Police Chief Herman Short is to hold a news conference to answer charges from parents that police should have discovered sooner the series of murders that stretched over a three-year period.

Henley has been charged with two counts of murder in the slayings and three counts of murder in San Augustine County in East Texas, where four bodies have been discovered.

Another Houston youth, David Owen Brooks, 18, has been charged with one count of murder. He says he witnessed some of the slayings but took no part in them.

The body count is just two short of that in California's Juan Corona mass murder case, the worst in the nation's history.

The search for bodies began Wednesday after Henley told police he had killed 33-year-old Dean Allen Corll, who according to the boys, was the instigator of the slayings.

Only five of the badly decomposed bodies found in Houston and the other two locations have been positively identified. Medical examiners worked over the weekend trying to identify the others.

Henley's attorney, Charles Melder, said Sunday he would ask State District Court Judge George Walker today to set a time and place for Henley to be examined by a psychiatrist.

"Henley's defense will be insanity," Melder said. "It's got to be. It's the only route."

Melder said he also would ask that the case be tried here in Harris County, not moved elsewhere as is often done in cases that receive massive publicity.

"I want a Harris County jury to decide this. I think Harris County jurors are more intelligent and have been around more than some East Texas and West Texas jurors."

After visiting Henley Sunday, Melder said the youth "needs medical attention — bad. He doesn't foam at the mouth, but you can look at a person and size him up, and the boy's not all there."

Melder also said he may ask the judge to reduce the $100,000 bond on each murder count that has been set for Henley. And he said he would ask Judge Walker to stop police from taking Henley with them to search for bodies unless his attorney is present.

Bitter Resentment By Some Parents

HOUSTON (AP) — The police are resented bitterly by some parents whose sons have been missing for as long as three years and may be among the grim remains of Houston's mass sex murders.

"We're highly disgusted with the Houston police department," said Walter Scott. His 18-year-old son Mark left home with parental permission for a trip to Mexico in April 1972 and never returned.

"They could have helped and they didn't."

Scott said a niece had told him she had read Mark's name in the newspaper as possibly being one of the 23 murder victims found in mass graves in the Houston area.

Only five of the 23 bodies have been identified positively. Mark was not one of the five.

Medical examiners continued to work throughout the weekend with dental records and X-rays to identify the badly decomposed bodies.

Houston police have said they haven't the resources to follow up every runaway report as thoroughly as parents would like. There are over 5,000 runaway reports in Houston each year.

The last word from Mark Scott was a postcard sent from Austin. He wrote that he had a job and was planning to come home.

Scott said that, after Mark failed to return, he wrote Austin police twice but received no reply. Houston police said that Mark was 18 and, even if found, could not be made to come home.

After the niece telephoned him, Scott said he called police and told them: "My son is dead. You had news of it. You should have called . . . I've got to look to a newspaper for the death of my son."

Other parents had similar reactions.

Mrs. Selma Winkle, whose son Malley is among the missing and presumed dead, told of this exchange with police when she reported her son had not come home:

Police: Lady, we just don't have the time to chase every runaway.

Mrs. Winkle: Malley is not a runaway.

Police: If you get any leads, we'll chase them down.

Like others, Mrs. Winkle felt that drugs, widespread in her neighborhood's schools, were part of the problem. Acting on information from a private detective, she went to the narcotics division of the police department. But that produced no results.

Never Sure It Was Legitimate

Ground-Air Search Called Off for That 'Voice'

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — The ground-air search for a small boy believed lost in the mountains of Central New Mexico has been called off. Officials say they were never certain the radioed "distress" calls were legitimate.

"We have not come up with any information that is definite enough to say that there actually is someone out there and where this person might be," State Police Chief Martin Vigil said Sunday.

Just in case, he said, four directional finding stations were established in the area to listen for any further signal and pinpoint its location.

The boy's calls for help, often tearful and incoherent, were first reported Tuesday by a California citizens band operator. Since then operators across the nation and in Canada have reported hearing the boy.

The voice said his name was Larry and that he was seven years old. He said his father was dead or seriously injured in a pickup truck accident. He did not know where he was.

"There is the real possibility that this whole thing was a hoax," Civil Air Patrol coordinator Lawrence Marshall said Sunday. "But there is also the possibility there had been some real distress calls."

It was on this logic that a search was mounted. More than 30 civilian and military aircraft carrying some of the most sophisticated radio tracking devices in existence were involved. Several hundred persons scoured the area on foot and in vehicles with radios.

Every time the listening devices were about to fix the signal's location, static would interrupt or the signal would fade.

For days the boy cried and called. Sometimes the air was silent and the listeners thought he might be sleeping. Then he would begin again.

The last confirmed contact with the boy who said he was in distress came Friday and since that time there had been only unconfirmed reports and rumors.

St. Croix Police Units Beefed Up in Murder Hunt

CHRISTIANSTED, Virgin Islands (UPI) — St. Croix detectives, aided by police dogs flown in from Miami and Puerto Rico, sought clues today in the separate weekend slayings of two women and a wealthy former New York restauratuer.

The deaths brought to five the number of whites who have been murdered in the past 18 days on this predominantly black Caribbean tourist island. None of the killings has been solved.

Police said the latest victim, Stanley Radulovic, 49, was cut down by several shotgun blasts Saturday night in the parking lot of the Rainbow Beach Club, a plush resort complex he managed near the west coast city of Frederiksted.

Radulovic, a painter, Fulbright scholar and one - time restaurant owner in New York, was shot several times in the club's parking lot a few minutes after "house sitting" with neighbors, police said.

Police dogs from Miami and Puerto Rico were sent in to help search for clues in the Friday slayings of two white women and the death of Radulovic, who lived in the Virgin Islands over the past six years and continued to paint during that time.

His slaying came as a jury in a mass murder case deliberated for a ninth day without reaching a verdict. The jury, sitting in the island's only courtroom before the territory's sole federal judge, delayed another mass murder trial.

The jury of 11 blacks and one white was deliberating 70 separate felony counts brought against five young blacks accused of killing eight persons, all but one of them white, in a Sept. 6 attack on the Rockefeller owned Fountain Valley golf course near Christiansted.

The Fountain Valley case forced a delay in the trial of six black Virgin Islanders accused in the shooting deaths of two white residents and the wounding of another in a Nov. 7 armed robbery.

UAW Votes to End Wildcat Chrysler Tieup

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers, in a disputed show of hands, voted Sunday to end a six-day wildcat strike at the Chrysler Detroit forge plant.

The vote was held at UAW Local 212 hall after union officials promised workers a strike vote Friday if the company fails to clean up the plant.

UAW Vice President Douglas Fraser, pointing to a federal court order Sunday by District Court Judge Cornelia Kennedy banning picketing or mass action at the plant, pleaded with workers to return to their jobs for the first shift today.

"We'll stay on the company's back," Fraser told the audience of workers, "Give us a chance to clean this thing up."

An informal show of hands at the end of the meeting showed that about half the workers wanted to return to work at the forge plant.

About 500 members of the 1,400-member local 47 attended. The wildcat strike began Tuesday.

A number of workers disputed the show-of-hands vote and vowed to continue the unauthorized strike in defiance of the union, the company and the federal injunction.

Fraser expressed his concern that the wildcat strike had disrupted bargaining on a national contract with Chrysler. Fraser also took a swipe at the UAW while speaking to the disgruntled workers.

"The thing that really bothers me about our union is that the first I heard about the forge plant is when I read the newspapers," said Fraser, the head of the UAW bargaining committee at Chrysler.

Fraser showed up at the forge plant Friday for a surprise inspection of the facility, and agreed with workers following the check that the plant was unsafe and unclean. He urged workers Sunday to go through the grievance channel rather than the wildcat route to vent their complaints with the plant.

Company officials said the strike was threatening production of 1974 model Chrysler cars.

The plant produces key assembly line parts as torsion bars, axles, crankshafts and pinions.

Peekskill Man Killed By Train

PEEKSKILL, N.Y. (UPI)—A Penn Central train Saturday struck and killed a 55-year-old Peekskill man who was fishing off a drawbridge.

Anthony Cafarelli was fishing off a drawbridge with a group of people near Pine Grove when a Buffalo - bound train rounded the bend.

According to police, everyone jumped out of the way but Cafarelli. "He apparently thought he had enough room and just stood there, baiting his lines," police said.

Cafarelli lived at 915 Second St.

State Electric Utilities Increase Research Spending

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Electric utilities in New York State are currently spending money for research at a rate seven times higher than in 1971, the Public Service Commission reported Sunday night.

Urged by the commission to increase such spending, the utilities boosted their research and development outlays from $4.5 million in 1971 to an estimated $28 million this year, the PSC said.

The current level equals roughly one per cent of the utilities' operating revenues, the commission said.

Joseph C. Swidler, PSC chairman, said the increase "indicates that the utility industry in New York State is now making a full contribution to the nationwide drive for the major technological advances it needs to carry out its responsibilities."

The PSC began encouraging utilities in the state to increase research expenditures two years ago, when it found the utilities were spending less than one-fourth of one per cent of their revenues in that area, Swidler said.

The commission staff has been meeting with the utilities to help coordinate statewide research. Most of the necessary research and development can be done only on a nationwide basis, Swidler said, "and the federal government and state regulatory agencies must share responsibility for providing adequate financial resources and for giving prover direction to their use."

The PSC has adopted accounting rules that guarantee the utilities reimbursement for their research through consumer rates, Swidler said. The utilities are required to annually submit five-year plans for their research, he added.

The largest portion of the research is being performed by individual utilities or groups of utilities, with smaller amounts being devoted to statewide and nationwide efforts.

Authority Expansion Planned

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The Public Service Commission says it plans to extend its authority to include all of the mushrooming radio-telephone business in the state.

The PSC, which currently regulates only those radio-telephone companies which interconnect with landline telephone facilities, disclosed the expansion in a weekend announcement.

"With the continuing expansion of the radio-telephone industry," the commission said, "we have concluded that it is appropriate to consider...extending our jurisdictional activities to include all radio - telephone utilities, whether interconnected . . . or not.

A radio-telephone utility is a two-way or one-way radio station, licensed by the Federal Communications Commission, which offers a public communications service for hire between mobile and base stations. There are 43 known radio - telephone utilities in the state, the commission said, 21 of which are interconnected and under the PSC's jurisdiction.

The commission said four others were awaiting certification and that, pending before the FCC, are 33 applications for two-way radio licenses and 30 for one-way paging to operate in New York State.

Citing the limited availability of radio channels, the commission said it "is in a far better position than the FCC to judge whether local public interests will be served by a particular radio-telephone utility.

"Failure on our part to participate at the outset precludes the commission from making any significant determination as to the applicant's fitness or ability to render reliable service at reasonable rates."

Bridge Traffic Total Shows Rise

POUGHKEEPSIE

The New York Bridge Authority reports a 9.8 per cent overall increase in traffic on its five bridges for the first six months of this year compared to the January-June period last year.

Traffic on the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge was up by 8.4 per cent during that period to a total of 1,279,506 vehicles. Revenue figures on individual bridges were not made available, but overall, the Authority showed an increase of some $450,000 during the six-month period to a total of $2,394,234.

The Mid-Hudson Bridge at Poughkeepsie showed a seven per cent traffic increase to a total of 3,008,086 while the Rip Van Winkle Bridge at Catskill showed a 12 per cent increase to 1,044,978 vehicles.

The Newburgh-Beacon Bridge continues as the traffic leader with 4,315,754 crossings for the first six months of this year, an increase of 12 per cent over the first six months of last year.

The Bear Mountain Bridge had an increase of eight per cent with 1,301,028 crossings.

A total of 10,949,352 vehicles crossed the five bridges during the first six months of this year compared to 9,971,384 for the first six months of last year.

Gilman Presses Hearings Battle

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman (26th District) is pressing his battle to bring about early local hearings on the Metropolitan Transportation Authority's (MTA) Stewart Airport Master Plan alive on two fronts.

In the latest of a series of communications to MTA's Chairman William Ronan, Gilman said, "Again I urge the MTA to announce its plans for the promised public hearings on Stewart's Master Plan. In order to enable local government to properly prepare for the proposed hearings, officials require notice of:

1—The time and place of planned hearings;

2.—The procedures to be followed at these hearings;

3.—The MTA's provisions for providing viable utilization of regional input in the making of final plans which will be compatible with our area."

At the same time, Congressman Gilman has written each of the area state legislators informing them of the request to Ronan, stating, "I believe this is the proper time to prepare planning for a Mid-Hudson Regional Transportation Authority such as I have previously discussed with our DOT (Department of Transportation) Commissioner Schuler who found the objectives of such a locally controlled and legislatively responsible authority, 'wholly in keeping with the existing authority of the MTA'."

"Accordingly," Gilman concluded, "I am suggesting that we meet together within the next few weeks to further discuss the possibilities of a joint effort to bring about such an agency in order to more responsibly serve the transportation needs of our region."

Gilman also informed Dr. Ronan that, "our county and local governments must be fully notified of what is expected of them in order to provide regional input in effectively planning toward orderly development of the Stewart facility."

Bennett Vice-President Is Named

MILLBROOK

Farnham F. Collins, of Crescent Road, Millbrook, has been appointed vice-president for external affairs of Bennett College, according to a recent announcement by Dr. J. William Nystrom, president of the college.

A graduate of the Millbrook School, Collins received his bachelor's degree from Princeton University and holds a master's degree from Trinity College. He has also studied at the Royal Institue of International Affairs in London.

Collins has taught at the Millbrook School for 10 years and has been active in many community projects.

In announcing Collins' appointment, President Nystrom said, "We are particularly fortunate at this time in Bennett's history to have secured the services of Mr. Collins for the vitally important assignment of coordinating our resource development, fund raising programs, alumnae affairs and public relations."

Ulster County Highway Facilities Being Relocated

GENERAL VIEW AT HURLEY AVENUE

(Freeman photo by Haines)

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

The now scattered Ulster County Highway Department facilities maintained at three different locations — Manor Avenue, Gage Street and the Quarry, off Hurley Avenue, in Kingston are being relocated in an efficiency move to the Quarry, according to Jose Camallonga Jr., superintendent of highways.

The consolidation will mean savings to the taxpayer and will do away with much inconvenience and expenditure.

The move, which is underway, will mean relocating the highway department's administrative office from the Manor Avenue, adjacent to a proposed new building facing Hurley Avenue, adjacent to the new Rondout National Bank. It will be constructed on property recently acquired by the county which is also adjacent to the present Quarry site.

Camallonga explained that much time is lost in traveling between the Manor Avenue and Gage Street locations to the Quarry.

The approximately 130 men who report to work every day had to go to the Manor Avenue garage and then cross town to the Quarry to get their equipment. Now they report directly to the Quarry.

County legislators, touring the facilities during the past year experienced a first hand taste of inconvenience when they were bogged down for quite some time by a freight train at a railroad crossing which isolates the Gage Street buildings from the rest of the city.

Plans call for removal of the Gage Street repair shop, which now houses supplies and parts, to the Quarry. Camallonga said that a few person are interested in purchasing the Gage Street buildings from the county.

It is also anticipated that the Manor Avenue facility will be turned over the the county's tax mapping department and used for storage of county records.

A huge concrete building at the Quarry, which had previously been used for storage of vehicles, will be converted to the new repair shop. Camallonga maintains that the county's vehicles, 26 of which cost $43,000 a piece, should not be stored under one roof because of the threat of fire. He therefore proposes and the Legislature reportedly approved, the locating a series of new metal buildings at the Quarry site to house some of the county's more than $1 million worth of highway department equipment.

Camallonga said that the metal buildings will not be heated but that water jacket heaters will be employed on vehicles during extremely cold weather.

The concrete block building, was costing the county more than $1,000 a month to heat. It is being converted not only into a repair shop but will have space for the foremans' office, parts storage, a kitchen and bath facilities.

Adjacent to it will remain the carpenter's shop, blacksmithing shop and machine shop. Even a sign shop provides the county with the latest in sign painting methods in which reflective material is heat bonded to aluminum sign blanks and painted with messages such as "Deer X-ing'."

The paint shop, which is in daily use, is gradually repainting and refurbishing the county's many multi-colored vehicles in a distinctive shade of blue so that they are easily recognizable.

The carpentry shop turns out cabs for vehicles, sawhorses and the form work for bridges, among other things.

There is a nine-man engineering office, which will also welcome new quarters on Hurley Avenue in exchange for the small offices in which it now holds forth administering to the needs of the county's 200 roads.

It's a big move but a gradual one and one which Camallonga feels is most important.

In addition to efficiency he thinks of the cost savings such as the $225 a month he used to have to pay to store vehicles outside on Gage Street. He thinks of the $1,000 a month fuel savings and he thinks of all the time and energy which will be saved by elimination of the crosstown trips and radio communications.

The only one who seems undisturbed by the big move is "Duke" a fair sized, long haired dog which can be found any day snoozing endlessly in the present Quarry Administrative Office.

Duke snoozes all day because each night he accompanies the watchman on his rounds and is known to have a bite worse than his bark.

Freer to Head Esopus Dems Ticket

PORT EWEN

George H. Freer, seeking his fourth two-year term as supervisor, will again head the Democratic ticket in the Town of Esopus in the November election.

Freer and six other Democratic candidates for town offices were all nominated without opposition Friday night at the party's caucus in the town hall in Port Ewen.

Mrs. Marilyn Coffey, a St. Remy housewife, will seek the town clerk's post and Mrs. Helen Dargie of New Salem, the incumbent, will run for another two year term as tax collector.

Since the town exercised its option to remove the two town justices from the town board effective January 1, 1974, three of the four councilmen's seats will be up for election on November 6.

Nominated as candidates for four-year terms on the board were Linda Smythe of Esopus and Joseph L. Wolf of Port Ewen. Candidate for a two-year term is John Grady of Rifton.

Lawrence Hiller of Esopus is the Democratic candidate for a four-year term as town justice, a post now held by Andrew Aurigemma, who was appointed to fill out an unexpired term.

Roger W. Mabie, Esopus Democratic chairman and a former minority leader of the Ulster County Legislature, chaired the caucus. Mabie called the slate of candidates "able and well-rounded, one of the best put forth by Democrats in many years."

GEORGE H. FREER

Mabie nominated Freer as the supervisor candidate, pointing out that he had served in the post for six years during which the town had undergone tremendous grouth. He called attention to Freer's activities in establishing a planning board, installing zoning, appointing a zoning board of appeals, and setting up a town landfill that Mabie called "one of the best in the county."

Freer, who lives in West Esopus, is a native of the town and has been employed by the New York Telephone Company for the past 28 years, currently serving as supervisor of construction forces.

Mrs. Coffey, a native of Brooklyn, attended classes in accounting and business law at Brooklyn College. A resident of the town since 1955, she is presently town bookkeeper and secretary to the supervisor. She and her husband, an IBM employe, have three children.

Mrs. Dargie, a native of Germany, attended high school and business school in Bremerhaven. Her late husband was a former town justice. She is the mother of two children, and first won election to the tax collector's post two years ago.

Mrs. Smythe, who husband is a sales manager, is a lifelong resident of the town and a Kingston High School graduate. Active in town Democratic circles, whe has been a committeeman for the past two years and is presently activities chairman of the town Democratic Club.

Wolf, a marketing development expert for a major oil company for 24 years, is making his first run for office. A Kingston High School graduate, he has attended several training schools held by his employer, and has had extensive busine experience in real etate and appraisal.

Grady, a lifetime Rifton resident active in civic affairs, is a 31-year employe of Central Hudson, currently serving as a systems operator.

Hiller, a native of Montreal, Quebec, attended St. Willibrord's School there. A resident of Esopus, he is employed at IBM in assembly and manufacturing.

Giant Tax Evasion

General Motors, largest corporation in the nation, paid an effective federal income tax of 44.6 per cent on its earnings last year, International Telephone & Telegraph Corporation paid one per cent and 11 other giant corporations paid no federal tax at all, though all had substantial profits. Revealing these facts, Representative Charles A. Vanik, Ohio Democrat, stressed on the House floor these corporations did nothing illegal.

What these corporations did was to take advantage of the "multitude of tax subsidies" which have been enacted into the tax laws over the years. Tax loopholes, say the Ohio congressman have the effect of reducing tax payments by large corporations and thrusting more of the federal tax burden onto the ordinary taxpayer and the small business man.

In this instance, the subsidies benefit chiefly conglomerates, a field from which General Motors is largely excluded lest it break the anti-trust laws. Thus it pays close to the statutory 48 per cent rate while ITT, a conglomerate, pays one per cent and many others go scot free.

Vanik said that if Uncle Sam's total revenues are considered as a pie, the slice contributed by major corporations declined substantially in 1972. That is a year in which corporate profits of 124 firms doing a billion dollar a year business or more earned 52 per cent of all corporate profits, while 190,000 with assets of $10 million or more took 12 per cent and the remainder went to small corporations.

It is for these reasons that Vanik, sponsor of mammoth study called "Corporate federal tax payments and federal subsidies to corporations for 1972," puts the spotlight on the biggest corporations and the subsidies they benefit by. His figures are not unchallenged. ITT, for instance, says its effective tax rate was not one but 9.5 per cent. But, of course that is far below the statutory rate.

These loopholes will be the subject of legislation which Vanik and others will introduce with considerable public taxpayer support.

Colleges for Servicemen

Servicemen's Opportunity Colleges, 150 in all, are the newest lure for recruits for the armed services. College credit is given for the technical skills acquired in their training programs and many can become eligible for associate degrees from a junior or community college.

No other incentive has so motivated enlistments as have the SOC. Young men and women of today are not looking for bonus payments, world travel, designer uniforms, etc., they are seeking the key to careers or are wanting a general education and a diploma or degree. In civilian life, skyrocketing tuitions and the loss of earning power deter thousands of our youth from university training. Now, in the services, salaries go right on while the student is piling up credits, either from his work or study.

The Navy calls its college plan "Campus for Achievement" and the Air Force maintains a "Community College of the Air Force." The Department of Defense pays 75 per cent of any tuition costs at associated colleges or technical institutes. Service people "with promise" but lacking high school diplomas are sometimes admitted. Tutors and counselors are provided. With this ideal set-up the services should at least double their number of volunteers. And, very soon, enlistments will be closed.

ONE-YEAR APPRENTICES — Usually, apprentices went through two to five year programs, most three to four years. Now Secretary of Labor Peter J. Brennan, announced the first one-year apprenticeship—for training apprentice prosthetics. They learn to make and repair rehabilitative appliances and fit them to the disabled.

SHAH'S TWO GOALS—Iran cannot allow anything but innocent passage of ships for trade in the Persian Gulf and she will not tolerate the disintegration of Pakistan. These were the goals of Iran's foreign policy enunciated while Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi was in this country. Either goal can call on his country to defend it, if challenged.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Watergate's Forgotten Four

WASHINGTON — All but forgotten in the Watergate wreckage are the four Cubans who were recruited to do the dirty work.

They thought they were serving their adopted country. Three of the four had been trained by the Central Intelligence Agency and had risked their lives on CIA missions.

Engenio Martinez, for instance, slipped into Cuba at least 300 times. He carried out his CIA orders so faithfully that he wouldn't jeopardize the missions to rescue his own parents. They eventually died in Cuba. Martinez would have been tortured to death if he had been caught. Yet he risked his life repeatedly for a CIA salary of $300 a month.

At the appeal of the wives, I interrupted a trip and flew back to Washington to speak to the four Cubans at the Rockville, Md., detention center. It was their first press interview.

We have no doubt after a long talk with the four Cubans that they were motivated by a misguided sense of patriotism. Their leader, Bernard Barker, went directly to the White House for their orders. In those impressive surroundings he was asked by his former CIA superior, E. Howard Hunt, to handle some surreptitious, national security missions.

Ellsberg's Records

Not until ten minutes before the Cuban break-in crew tried to steal Daniel Ellsberg's pyschiatric records were they told the object of their mission. They had been led to believe they were after a spy who had been delivering military secrets to the Soviet embassy.

Before they broke into Democratic party headquarters, they were told their main mission was to seek supposed evidence of secret communist contributions to the Democrats.

Their arrest caused international shock waves. But it was the White House plotters, not the four Cubans, who panicked.

A reported $460,000 was slipped to the Watergate defendants and their lawyers to buy their silence. Yet only a paltry few dollars filtered down to the Cubans — less than $14,000 to help them maintain their families, another $13,000 to their first attorney, Henry Rothblatt. Frank Sturgis, for example, collected a total of $2,500 in expenses. Virgilio Gonzalez and Eugenio Martines received $1,600 to $1,800 apiece.

Despite all the hundreds of thousands in hush money, those at the top were the first to break. The poorly paid Cubans, true to their CIA training, refused to talk.

They wound up behind bars while those who plotted the Watergate crimes remained free. Bob Haldeman and John Ehrlichman, even after their dismissal from the White House, were chauffeured to the grand jury in White House limousines. The four Cubans were brought in manacles by federal marshals.

Cut Off

Long ago, the Cubans were completely cut off by the White House. In contrast, John Wilson, the attorney for Haldeman and Ehrlichman, conferred personally with the President. Haldeman was even permitted to use secret White House tapes to help prepare his defense — the same tapes that had been refused to the Watergate prosecutors and Senate investigators.

Barker, known to the others as Macho (He-Man), still talks about "loyalty" and "honor." His real estate business has been wiped out, the office furniture sold. His wife, Clara, works in the restaurant of a Miami hotel to make ends meet.

Sturgis is more bitter. He attributes the death of his mother to the Watergate reaction. He owes $3,000 in hospital and funeral bills. Some of his creditors are threatening to sue. His wife, Jan, is working to pay off the bills.

Martinez was divorced the day of his arrest. But he boasts of his 20-year-old stepson, Dominick, who took his name and is now a medal-winning parachutist in the Marines. Gonzalez also worries about his wife who lives alone with their 11-year-old daughter.

Cuban friends have been trying to raise a defense fund to help pay the bills. They have raised enough to distribute $750 to each family and to pay the attorney, Daniel Schultz, $5,500.

"We now know we did wrong," said Sturgis. "But as God is our judge, we thought at the time we were serving the country."

Footnote: The Cubans have also become the subject of malicious rumors, including one report that they helped plot the assassination of President Kennedy. As evidence a picture has been circulated allegedly showing Sturgis at Dallas on the day of the assassination. We have seen the picture; it is not Sturgis. We have also checked out the report; it is not true.

O'Brien's Taxes Eyed

WASHINGTON — Immediately after Lawrence O'Brien filed his Watergate suit as Democratic national chairman, President Nixon's senior aides developed an obsessive interest in causing tax troubles for him.

According to reliable sources from the White House, O'Brien became Enemy No. 1 there after the Watergate burglary. It was O'Brien who then led the political attack to connect the crime with President Nixon's high command. Fearful about what might be uncovered through O'Brien's law suit against the Committee to Reelect the President, Nixon aides responded by planning a counterattack against him.

The Senate Watergate hearings have revealed that the White House probed private sources of income for O'Brien, unpaid as national chairman. But the hearings did not develop that presidential aides conferred at length about intensifying Internal Revenue Service (IRS) pressure on O'Brien. This pressure was reflected in memoranda which may still be in White House files.

O'Brien's tax troubles began after his election on March 5, 1970, for a second hitch as Democratic national chairman. The IRS ordered an audit of his 1969 tax return. In 1971, the IRS audited his 1970 return. Neither audit produced significant additional revenue for the government. But after the Watergate suit was filed, the IRS ordered a re-audit of his 1969 tax return — again, without significant recapture of taxes.

O'Brien's accountant, an experienced tax practitioner, informed him the audits were conducted with unprecedented intensity. But non-biased tax experts believe it will be very difficult to positively link the IRS audits with the White House obsession to get O'Brien.

Waiting For Martin

The continued isolation of President Nixon from the outside world, perhaps more intense than ever since the Watergate scandal broke, unnecessarily prolonged a dangerous vacuum of U.S. leadership in Vietnam.

That vacuum began last March when Graham Martin, U.S. ambassador to Italy, was named to replace Ellsworth Bunker as ambassador to South Vietnam. Bunker, distinguished tenure in Saigon, thus became a lame duck at a critical moment in Vietnam. He left his post May 11, but a slow-moving Senate did not confirm Martin as his successor until June 14 — extending the vacuum another full month.

Martin was prepared to leave for his new post immediately after conferring with Mr. Nixon. But Martin like many officials before him with a similarly important need to see the President, simply could not obtain an appointment. After cooling his heels in Washington for a full month, Martin finally was granted an appointment with Mr. Nixon for Thursday, July 12.

But on July 12, the President was hospitalized with viral pneumonia. Martin left Washington July 15, without the benefit of having conferred with Mr. Nixon, arriving in Saigon July 17 to finally end the vacuum.

In the view of worried U.S. officials in Vietnam, the absence of a permanent ambassador in Saigon contributed to a absence of U.S. policy at a time when the Communists were skillfully using the ceasefire to improve their military position and develop a "Third Vietnam" within the borders of South Vietnam.

Connally Moves

Former Gov. John B. Connally of Texas has quietly embarked on a path many close friends predicted he would never take: the rubber chicken banquet circuit to establish his new credentials as a Republican — possibly a Republican presidential candidate.

Connally gave state Republican headquarters in Austin, Texas, the green light about a month ago to start him across the country. Out of hundreds of requests pouring into Austin (as many as 60 in one week), Connally has accepted two so far: the kickoff banquet of the Republican state convention in San Diego, Calif., Sept. 8 and the annual Trunk and Tusk Republican dinner in Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 16. There will be many more.

Such appearances are essential for ex-Democrat Connally to melt the reserve of Republican regulars if he is to have any real chance for the GOP presidential nomination in 1976. But many veteran Connally-watchers felt his distaste for grubby campaigning would preclude such a necessary course. The fact that he is going on the burdensome banquet circuit is clear evidence of presidential ambitions.

The Varying Joys of Summer

Summer dies young. Soon it will be embalmed in a picture album with kids frozen in mid-flights as they leap, with fingers squeezing nose, off diving boards; growing girls in bikinis taking a deep breath before the shutter clicks; old people smiling bravely through false teeth; and, here and there, a freeze-frame of a romance which was born, grew up, and died all in one season.

After Labor Day, the lakes will polish their mirrors; the racing footmarks in the sand will be smoothed by fingers of rain; a breeze will come up to scrub the woods and rocky glens.

The big waves, walking shoulder-high toward the beach, will seem smaller and slower. Black smoke rising off the edge of the horizon never forms a question mark unless someone is on the beach to see it. Rowboats with green beards are upside down, high on the sand.

Summer is not a season. It's a mood. It is window screens and loud music and blue buckshot in a night sky. It's a tan; sweat on a glass of beer. It is, perchance, a cool dress, freckles, bare feet, corn on the cob, the pulse of an air-conditioner, a cool sheet on a bed.

It is also a bus full of hot people, a picnic in the woods, a five iron flush to the pin; choked highways, teenagers touching in a dark movie, first look at a mountain which has been standing there forever.

It is not a satisfactory season. Summer is always too hot, too chilly, too dry, too wet, blinding bright, deadly dull. It is cold cereal and milk, itchy mosquito bites, a thunder shower which loses its temper, a brassy brazen sun which stands still all day.

Summer is an ice cream cone, a policeman sweating through handcuffs, a geyser from a car radiator, big tart strawberries, Winston Churchill's face in a cumulus cloud.

It's an apoplectic tomato, an unmade bed, cold melon, a canoe kissing small waves. It's a cat squinting behind yellow eyes on a porch rail; a smell of hot tar; sea birds serene in their own gliders.

It is counting children to see who stays for dinner, who goes home. It is new friends, cool caves, a zipper which used to close comfortably, the heart-stopping shrieking of little ones at play. It's a bestseller, an old song, church services with the humming of fans.

Summer is the fretful sleep of an infant, taffy, an amusement park, a county fair. It's a Hawaiian sports shirt, big cold dice clinking in a glass, the busy season for bees. A stone oven metropolis, a stately steamer making its own breeze, the soft whispers and loud laughter of lovers.

It is vacation time for neckties, the dry wheeze of an asthmatic kitchen pump; a night of confused dreaming. It is lacquered toenails, the smell of mowed grass, tennis racquets and white shorts, a tiny cut on a tiny knee, horseback riding, cows under a big elm.

It's an extra handkerchief; a band concert in the park, summer jobs, teachers making out on cruise ships; paying for another child in a supermarket baby carriage; an old man turning the earth around the zinnias; a gray nest of wasps in the garage.

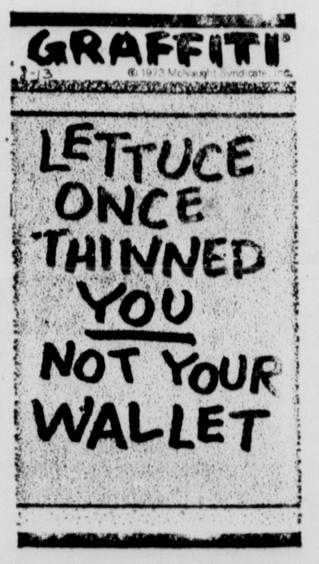

Summer is roller skates, hop skotch, hamburger on an outdoor grill, a proposal to "go steady"; the hesitant plink of a tuneless guitar. It's road maps in the glove compartment, school books gathering dust in a closet, a postponed letter to a friend.

It's the acrobatics of beach Apollos, the curving green leap of a perch, a hot commuter train. It's a special hair rinse, a blank order for next winter's oil burner; repeat shows on TV, boy scouts on a weekend hike, colored balloons, stock car races, cold cokes, a secret diary, steaming spaghetti and iced tea. It is this, and much more.

Summer is a hobo dozing on a flatcar, a patriotic parade, a fishing trip, a scented letter. It's an open book on the lap, a fluffy salad, the sharp crack of a bat, an overworked emergency room. It is wild daisies on a straw hat, a filmy scarf, night fireworks of colored fire. It's stickball among parked cars an open fire hydrant, two arthritic hands twined.

It's a road mirage, museums, the fun house, girls nicking sunburned legs with razors. Bright sunlight and small shadows, wild mushrooms, the intense stillness before rain, a cold stream spangling over smooth stones. It's a time of hope; a moment of promise —

A good time to live.

Vietnam Vet 'Burns to Compete'

PROVO, Utah (UPI) — Five years ago Michael Johnson lost both legs to a Vietnamese land mine.

This year Johnson shot a four-point buck during hunting season and has been averaging almost 30 points a game for his basketball team.

And this week he will be in Miami, Fla., to officially receive an award as Disabled Veteran of the Year at the August national convention of the Disabled American Veterans.

Johnson, 25, his wife, Denise, and their 15-month-old son, Casey, live in a house half-way up the side of a mountain overlooking Provo.

"We had it built with wider hallways and with ramps instead of stairs," the ex-Marine said. "It's the little things that count when you are in a wheelchair all the time."

In addition to his job as an engineering draftsman for the Federal Bureau of Reclamation, his hunting, fishing and basketball games, he manages to find time to work with a local Boy Scout troop.

On Jan. 30, 1968, the day Johnson stepped on the land mine in South Vietnam, not many would have given him a chance to ever be active again.

His wounds cost him his right leg above the knee and his left leg at the hip. He lost two fingers and the thumb on his left hand, and the middle finger of his right hand. He has a steel plate in his forehead. A chunk of metal sliced off a chunk of his right arm. He spent a year and a half in military hospitals before he was well enough to be sent home.

How did he overcome all this?

"I wasn't born to be a spectator," he says. "I burn to compete. I've always been that way. I won't retire from sports until I've been on the cover of Sports Illustrated magazine."

Johnson's drive and competitiveness aid him in helping other amputees at the Salt Lake Veterans Administration Hospital. Even though he says he "hates" hospitals after spending 18 months in them after stepping on the booby trap, he occasionally goes back to counsel servicemen with similar injuries.

"I try to tell them about the things they can still do—because when you realize what has happened, all you do is think of the things you can't do again," he said.

And there are always the brighter moments.

Johnson said his wheelchair basketball team challenged the American Basketball Association's Utah Stars to a benefit game.

"They turned us down," Johnson said. "They said they were afraid some of their players might get hurt."

Euthanasia... Interest Is Booming

NEW YORK (AP) — The Euthanasia Society of America's membership has jumped from hundreds to tens of thousands in the last four years, and its director says interest continues to swell.

"The phones have been a steady tattoo," said Mrs. Elizabeth T. Halsey, 70, head of the organization that was established in 1938.

The most recent surge of interest in the legal and moral questions of euthanasia, or the act of painlessly killing someone for reasons assumed to be merciful, was sparked by the two widely publicized cases in New York and New Jersey this summer.

Dr. Vincent A. Montemarano of East Meadow, N.Y., has been accused of injecting a fatal dose of potassium chloride into a comatose patient. Leter Zygmaniak of Englishtown, N.J., has been charged with fatally shooting his brother, who had been paralyzed by a motorcycle accident.

Mrs. Halsey has received about $100,000 in donations so far this year; as much as was received during all of 1972. Donations totaled about $33,000 in 1970. Membership has jumped from 600 in 1969 to 50,000 this year, she said.

Mrs. Halsey attributes the increase to more publicity and because "now there are so many ways of keeping people alive."

"People are becoming very afraid of this," she said. "A person doesn't die anymore in the bosom of his family. They attach tubes to him and stick him into intensive care, and it's far from dignified."

Mrs. Halsey, a widow who has directed the organization since 1969, said there is less interest in rural and low-income areas where there are fewer hospitals and advanced medical facilities.

The society advocates passive rather than active euthanasia. That is, it would favor halting prolonged medical attention to someone who might require it but not an injection of poison into a terminally ill patient.

"My sister had pneumonia a couple of years ago, and she was stuck full of tubes," Mrs. Halsey said. "Well, I told the doctor that if she has heart arrest, and her brain becomes injured, please don't work on her."

New York City's chief medical examiner, Dr. Milton Helpern, recently said he was against euthanasia because it's "done for the convenience of the doctor and the family . . . It's the family that can't stand the suffering. A patient who's in a coma isn't in pain. It's the family who's in pain."

The Euthanasia Society has been filing about 500 requests a week for what it calls a "living will." The document says:

"If there is no reasonable expectation of my recovery from physical or mental disability, I . . . request that I be allowed to die and not be kept alive by artifiicial means or heroic measures.

"Although this document is not legally binding, you who care for me will, I hope, feel morally bound to follow its mandate."

Said Mrs. Halsey, "The will embodies all we have to say about passive euthanasia."

New Policies Explained

KINGSTON

A bill of rights for clients and increased citizen participation in mental hygiene programs are spelled out in a new statement of principles and policies issued by the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene.

The office of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health notes that in addition to spelling out the rights of clients who are undergoing treatment in mental hygine programs, the document also established an office for community involvement and citizens affairs in Albany.

Described as the "single most important step" taken by the department in promoting citizen involvement, the new office "will work to insure that every division, office and bureau of the department will develop affirmative action programs that will increase and enhance citizen participation in all mental hygiene programs."

The major concern of the new office will be to explore the best means through which concerned citizens respresented on a local level can work along with those responsible for the development of comprehensive mental health, mental retardation and alcoholism programs for the people who live in their area.

Nixon Gives Approval To Highway Extension

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today signed into law a $23 billion extension of the highway act which permits highway trust fund money to be spent for the first time on mass transit.

The President said in a statement that he was "particularly pleased to sign this legislation." He said it represents "a significant extension and reform of the federal highway program" and called it "an important step forward" in providing better, more balanced transportation.

"One of the most significant features is that it allows the highway trust fund to be used for mass transit capital improvements," said Nixon. "This landmark provision is one that I have urged for some time."

He noted that under the new law, states and localities for the first time "will have the flexibility they need to set their own transportation priorities."

Congress completed action 10 days ago on the bill which authorizes nearly $20 billion worth of expenditures over the next three years from the highway trust fund.

The fund collects $6 billion to $7 billion a year through federal taxes on gasoline, tires and trucks. Started in 1957 to finance construction of the Interstate Highway System, the fund until this year had been guarded from raids for nonhighway purposes.

No money would be spent for nonhighway purposes during the first year covered by the new bill. During the second year, $200 million would be released for spending on buses and during the third year, $800 million more would be available for fixed rail systems such as subways.

Five Die In Collision Of Planes

TORRANCE, Calif. (UPI) — Five persons were killed Sunday night when two light planes collided over the west end of Torrance Airport, authorities reported.

The planes, a two-seater Cessna 150 and a four-seater Cessna 172, collided about 300 feet above the airport and crashed to the ground. The bodies of the victims were pulled from the charred wreckage and not immediately identified.

A police spokesman said one of the planes apparently was taking off when the accident occurred.

The dead included two men in the Cessna 150 and a man, a woman and a child in the Cessna 172. There were no survivors.

18 DIE IN RR CRASH — Clouds of smoke rise from the wreckage of an oil-carrying train after it jumped the rails and overturned at a provincial station in Korea, some 110 miles south of Seoul. Police said they had confirmed 18 persons were dead while 14 others were listed as missing. Nine persons suffered severe burns. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Oblong Grin 'Should Be Feared'

LONDON (UPI) — Beware of the "oblong grin" —that's the way a hypocrite smiles, according to a London doctor.

"The teeth are clenched and the lips drawn right back. It is seen when the smiler is pretending to enjoy himself, but really isn't," said Dr. Ewan Grant of Chelsea College's basic medical sciences group in the medical newspaper Pulse.

Grant said he has charted 100 different facial expressions. "Non-verbal communication is an important part of the communication between individuals and a more precise overt knowledge of it could be of immense clinical importance," he said.

HE THOUGHT HE WAS A PRETTY SHREWD BUSINESSMAN!

- He never overbought
- He never sold at a loss
- He was always competitive
- He kept his store modern
- His clerks were friendly
- He stocked excellent merchandise
- He kept good books

BUT . . . He Never Advertised!

And, as a result, his business was never what it could have been! Businessmen must let their customers, and potential customers, know that their merchandise is good, their store is modern and prices are competitive. Alps Festival Is Planned

PURLING

The new German Alps Festival will run August 17-26 here at the 110-acre Bavarian Manor grounds, two miles from Cairo and six miles west of Thruway Exit 21 on Route 23.

An 11-piece oompah band, 14 Schuhplattlers (folk dancers), two alpine horn players and two woodcarvers are all coming from West Germany's Bavaria to participate daily.

Besides the oompah band, there will be German bands from New York and Pennsylvania and dancers from the Germania Almrausch of Poughkeepsie. Roving musicians will also be a part of the scene at the German resort area of the Catskills, along with other entertainment features including a soccer tournament and amusement rides.

Other points of interest include the many area craftsmen who will be appearing daily and the many import gift shops and clothing stores.

The feature attraction will be the huge new tent, complete with decorations, that will seat 3,000. An Oktoberfest spirit will prevail with music flowing through the Alpine gardens and wine cellar.

Rip Van Winkle, along with area officials, will be on hand to tap the first keg on opening day. Rip will stay on for the remainder of the fest to entertain everyone, as will Ross the Magician.

Admission is $1 per adult and children under 12 are free.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were lower today, continuing last week's trend.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down more than a point and declining issues held a moderate lead over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Arlen Realty, down ¼ at 4½, was the Big Board volume leader, followed by Deere Co., up ¼ at 49½, and Fairchild Camera, down ¾ at 51¼.

The stock market lost ground all last week, dipping sharply Friday as banks raised their prime lending rates to 9 per cent.

Quotations by Loeb, Rhoades and Co., members of New York Stock Exchange and American Stock Exchange, Kingston Plaza, Kingston, N. Y. Joseph Garvila, resident manager Phone 331-1900.

Hyde Park Play

The Regina Coeli Players of Hyde Park, coming off their smash hit performance of "Godspell" last winter, will present the 1930's musical comedy "Anything Goes" on August 17 and 18 at 7:30 p.m. at their school on Route 9 in Hyde Park. Tickets for the Cole Porter favorite will be available at the door.

Libya Nationalizing Wealth

BEIRUT (UPI) — Libya nationalized 51 per cent of the U.S. Occidental Oil Co. and warned other foreign oil concerns in the country Sunday they face similar action unless they meet "legitimate" demands that Libya control its own wealth.

At Occidental's Los Angeles headquarters, board Chairman Armand Hammer said the company was paid $135 million in cash for transfer of 51 per cent of its assets to the Libyan National Oil Co. and that the amount was "acceptable to the company."

Hammer said the company "acquiesced" to the new agreement, signed in Tripoli by Occidenta Vice President George M. Williamson.

Tripoli Radio said Libyan Oil Minister Ezzedin Mabrouk Sunday warned other international oil companies operating in Libya "against the consequences of their failure to respond to the ministrys' wishes and persisting in their evasive policies . . .

"If these companies continue their evasion attempts, we will take control of our national wealth by our own special methods," Mabrouk said.

Mabrouk did not clarify what he meant by "evasive policies," but a Libyan official of Occidental who asked not to be named said he believed the Occidental nationalization "is a reply to America's all-out support of Israel."

A Libyan government official termed the takeover "yet another slap in the face of America and I believe the slaps will continue."

That was an apparent reference to a statement by Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy, who announced June 11 the takeover of America's Bunker Hunt Oil Co., saying the United States "deserves a hard slap in its insolent face" for its policy of support for Israel.

R. H. Espey, president of Occidental's operations in Libya—which account for 15 per cent of the country's total crude oil production—said the nationalization was "totally unexpected."

Routine Day In the Skylab

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab 2 astronauts, using a patched up stabilization system, performed routine experiments today, including one that had commander Alan L. Bean testing a one-man flying machine in the space lab.

Entering their third week of the two-month journey around and around the Earth, Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma also conducted biomedical experiments and studied the sun.

Ground control engineers and the astronauts negotiated a nettlesome problem Sunday when three of their eight working gyroscopes quit working.

Mission control spoke of a possible unscheduled spacewalk to fix the problem since the astronauts carry extra gyros aboard, but that alternative was avoided.

"It doesn't particularly have us worried," Flight Director Charles Lewis said of the gyro problem. "If we lost all the gyros in an axis or we were down to one that was not reliable, at that point we would start thinking about an EVA (spacewalk)."

Bean had four hours set aside to run the first zero-gravity test of the Astronaut Maneuvering Unit (AMU), wearing the contraption on his back like a camper setting out on a hike.

The AMU has a propellant tank and its own stabilization system. The schedule called for Bean to maneuver himself about the 21-by-20 foot experiment compartment by hand operated thrusters.

He was to evaluate how an apparatus like the AMU might be improved for use by astronauts working outside a spacecraft.

It was an experiment that might someday make the problems like the gyro trouble less serious in the future.

The gyros keep the giant ship stable in space and it needs at least one working gyro in each of its three axis in order to fly correctly.

One gyro has not worked in months and three more went out briefly Sunday. Engineers quickly restarted two failed gyros but that left only one working gyro in one of the axis—a workable but borderline situation.

The engineers then figured out a system that harnessed the solo gyro to good gyros in the other axis.

"We're going to use these patches and see if they won't relieve the gyro problem," said Lewis.

Fear All 85 Are Dead In Spanish Air Crash

LA CORUNA, Spain (UPI) — A Spanish Caravelle airliner with 85 persons aboard exploded in flight today and crashed while the pilot was circling through rain and low hanging clouds in his fourth attempt to land in near zero visibility.

"There is no hope of survivors," a statement by the Aviaco Air Lines, owner of the aircraft, said.

Both an airport spokesman and the national Spanish news agency Cifra, however, reported at least one survivor. The airport spokesman said one injured person was rescued from the flaming wreckage on the edge of a nearby village. Cifra said two persons including a man in his forties were rushed to a La Coruna hospital.

Aviaco said the Caravelle jet carried 79 passengers and a crew of six.

An airport spokesman said it crashed on its fourth attempt to land in bad weather. Cifra reported the pilot had been told shortly before by the control tower that visibility had dropped below minimum levels.

The plane, on a scheduled flight from Madrid, made three attempts to land at La Coruna and had just started to circle the cloud-shrouded airport once again when it apparently exploded in the air, the spokesman said.

Most of its wreckage fell on an abandoned farm house in the village of Montrove, four miles from the airport.

The airport spokesman said radio contact with the plane broke off without any indication of anything being wrong with the plane, apart from Captain Lopez Pascual's apparent difficulties of landing the craft under the prevailing bad conditions.

Cifra said the crash happened after visibility at the airport had dropped below minimum levels, and that Pascual was informed of the condition.

Most passengers aboard the plane appeared to be vacationers. La Coruna is one of three airports serving the northwestern Galicia Provinces and its seaside resorts. The ill-fated flight, AV-118, is a special vacation flight run daily by Aviaco during the summer season.

Cifra said one of the two injured persons found at the site of the disaster might have been a villager.

The plane left Madrid at 9:14 a.m., more than an hour late for the 60-minute flight. The crash happened an hour later.

La Coruna airport was closed down to all incoming traffic after the crash.

Cifra said members of a Barcelona swimming club (Club Natacion Barcelona) were aboard the plane flying to a swimming meet in La Coruna.

The crash was Aviaco's second this year. Another of its two engine Caravelles crashed into the sea near the Azores Islands on a training flight last spring, killing all three crew members abroad.

Two other Spanish airliners, a scheduled Iberia DC9 and a chartered Spantax Coronado, collided over France during an air controllers strike in the spring killing 68. Last December, another Spantax Coronado crashed on takeoff from Santa Cruz de Tenerife killing all 155 persons aboard in Spain's worst air disaster.

QUESTION: Why aren't the actual names of the 9 Major Food Chains shown in this survey?

ANSWER: We are not permitted by the newspaper to use the actual names.

However, this survey, with actual store names will be posted in all Albany Public Markets!

ITEM FOR ITEM ALBANY PUBLIC MARKET PEOPLE'S CHOICE PRICES ARE LOWER THAN THESE 9 MAJOR FOOD CHAINS SHOPPED LAST WEEK!

In cases where an item was not available in the store surveyed, that item was eliminated in our list so as to make a direct item for item comparison. That is why you'll note different totals for Albany Public.

	OTHER STORE PRICES	ALBANY PUBLIC PRICES	YOU SAVE

Miss Jo-Anne Condon Weds James A. Costello Jr.

MRS. JAMES A. COSTELLO JR.
(Jo-Anne M. Condon)
(Lakeside Photo)

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Bernard of Lake Katrine announce the marriage of their daughter, Jo-Anne M. Condon, to James A. Costello Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Costello Sr. of East Kingston.

The Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly officiated at the double ring ceremony Saturday, Aug. 4, at St. Joseph's Church in Kingston. Jacqueline Stelz, flutist, and James Sweeney, organist, provided traditional wedding selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her stepfather. She wore a gown of imported organza fashioned with a shaped bodice, high neckline and long, full cavalier sleeves. Venise lace braid accented the collar, cuffs, and created a mock scooped line on the upper bodice. The gown featured an A-line skirt and cathedral length detachable tubular train which was edged with Venise braid. She wore a stylized headpiece of matching lace highlighted with seed pearls to which was shirred her three-tiered fingertip-length veil. She carried a cascade of yellow sweetheart roses, white carnations, baby's breath, Fuji chrysanthemums and ivy.

Mrs. Elizabeth Harper of Lake Katrine was matron of honor for her sister. Attendants were Jacqueline Costello, sister of the bridegroom, Albany, and Mrs. Susan Gadaleto of Highland. Miss Marguerite Bernard, half-sister of the bride, Lake Katrine, and Miss Joanne Costello, sister of the bridegroom, East Kingston, were junior bridesmaids. Flower girl was Brenda Reina, cousin of the Bridegroom, Kingston.

All attendants were gowned alike in rainbow colors of aqua, maize, blue, orchid, nile and pink dotted swiss fashioned with fitted Empire bodices over A-line skirts. White Venise lace trimmed the collars, sleeves and waistlines. Similar lace braid created a border effect on the hemlines. They wore matching floral headpieces and carried arrangements of daisies and baby's breath.

John Costello, brother of the bridegroom, East Kingston, was best man. Ushers were Joseph Guido of East Kingston and Phil Schaefer of Albany. Wayne and Tony Raleigh, cousins of the bridegroom, Kingston, served as junior ushers and Richard Harper, nephew of the bride, Lake Katrine, was ringbearer.

A reception was given at the Alpine Restaurant.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Kingston High School, is employed in the office at Barclay Knitwear in Port Ewen. Her husband attended KHS and is a mechanic at Johnson Ford, Route 28, Kingston.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will reside in Lake Katrine.

MR. AND MRS. FLOYD BROWN of Tillson were guests of honor at a surprise 35th wedding anniversary party at the S.R.S. Home in Cottekill. The party was given by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brown of Tillson. Married July 29, 1938 in Kingston, the couple also has two grandchildren, James and Nancy Brown of Tillson. Many friends and relatives attended from Schenectady, Syracuse, Cherry Valley, Scotia, Saugerties, Kingston, Walden, Wallkill, Modena, New Paltz, and Tillson. The couple received numerous gifts and congratulatory messages. (Glenndale Studio)

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE

How To Curl Up With An Old Wig

Dear Heloise:

I've come up with what I think is a terrific idea.

In this day of wig wearing, when you are going to discard an old one, try this:

Snip off several strands of tendrils, then hold them together with either crossed bobby pins or strips of adhesive tape.

Cut a section of bangs, and also a cluster of curls or enough for a mini fall. Use your imagination!

Eleanor Miller

Excuse me for a few moments, as I have the scissors in my hand and I'm on my way to the bedroom to get out a couple of my old wigs I was planning to throw away.

Love,
Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here are a few tips we developed while traveling with our three little ones.

Bring your electric percolator and you'll always have hot water for instant chocolate, coffee or tea. It takes a while to get everyone dressed for breakfast, and this saves nerves.

Also have a dry cereal for baby to munch on while you dress.

I put our baby in overalls or shorts with the shirt on the outside. Then if he spills or spits up, I just pop on a new shirt. If it gets too warm, the shirt removes easily.

Jean Spining

Letters of Woe

Dear Heloise:

We are on such a tight budget that I get a stomach spasm everytime there's a plumbing bill or an appliance acts up.

I have a couple of major appliances fighting now, over which one will die first. You wanna bet it's the washer or lawnmower? It's two to one both ways.

Widow

Dear Heloise:

I found a real nice way to shorten pants for my sons.

Instead of hemming them, I use four snaps in each leg. When it is time to wash them, I just unsnap them.

The pants stay the same color not faded like when you hem them up.

It works real neat for me and I hope it helps someone else. It is good on slacks too.

Harpsichordist at Saratoga

Robert Conant, internationally renown American harpsichoedist, who recently conducted The Baroque Festival Orchestra in Chicago's Orchestra Hall and "displayed a baton technique that some of our conducting specialists might well envy" (Bernard Jacobson, Chicago Daily News), will return to Saratoga for his first solo recital there since 1967, under the auspices of the Saratoga Performing Arts Center on the Connoisseur Concerts Series in the Canfield Casino tonight at 8 o'clock.

Conant will offer both old and new music at the Casino — works of Purcell, Bach, Forquery and Scarlatti, as well as 20th century composers Ligeti, Lombardo and Fennelly.

Robert Conant's return to Saratoga is significant for him in view of the growing interest in centers for the study and performance of early music on early instruments. He brought his Festival of Baroque music and its parent organization, The Foundation for Baroque Music, to Saratoga until 1967. Since then the Baroque Foundation has sponsored national tours, and Conant himself has toured nationally and internationally, in solo recitals and with distinguished ensembles, most recently with the Chicago Symphony, and with The Philadelphia Orchestra in Saratoga during the summer of 1971.

Last summer in Saratoga, the British composer Wilfred Josephs composed a work for Robert Conant, entitled "The Saratoga Concerto," a triple concerto for harp, guitar and harpsichord with orchestra. A possible world premiere of this work is being discussed and may be announced soon. Plans are also underway for the return of the Festival of Baroque Music to Saratoga in the summer of 1974, in a new hall under construction on a beautiful 85 acre farm in Greenfield Center, the summer home of the Conants.

Tickets will be available at the door.

Surprise Party Given Recently For Mrs. William Campbell of Hurley

Mrs. William Campbell of Hurley was honored recently at a surprise party in observance of her 80th birthday. The party was hosted by her two daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kraniak of Hurley and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kind of Waterford, Mich. It took place at the home of Mrs. Kraniak.

Among those present were Mrs. Campell's grandchildren: Mrs. Richard Geuss and husband of New Paltz; and Stuart Kraniak and wife of Kew Gardens, L. I.; and her two great grandchildren: Miss Wendy Geuss and Clinton Kraniak.

Others in attendance included Mr. and Mrs. Adam Geuss Sr. of Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson from Briarcliff Manor, and Mrs. Richard Meekins from Long Island.

Mrs. Campbell also received many gifts and congratulatory messages from out of town frineds who were unable to attend.

LIONS AWARDS — Also attending the Lions Club luncheon for award winners in the Goveror Clinton Hotel last week were (l-r) John Betaudier, who accepted first place for Station WKNY and its public service exhibit in the Best of Show category; Michael Aronica, accepting for BOCES which copped second place in Best of Show; Dorothy A. Narel, women's page editor of The Daily Freeman, who served as a judge; Dr. George Erbstein, president of UCCC, who accepted the Best of Show third place plaque for the college's exhibit; and Ted Corea, who accepted Honorable Mention Award for H & M TV's Spring Festival Theme. Tony Bell accepted a Spring Festival Theme, third place plaque for Station WGHQ. He was unavailable for the photo, however, because of a prior commitment. An Honorable Mention plaque was won by the Saugerties Village also. Serving as judges with Mrs. Narel were Bernard Farrell, chairman of the Lions Awards committee; and Richard M. Kalish, past president of Lions. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Phil and I were married for two years, and I thought we had a great marriage. He was 23 and I was 25.

Then Phil went back to college full time while I worked and paid the bills. (I'm a surgical nurse.) It was working out fine until Phil became more than casually involved with a female classmate, and in a sequence of events they were both kicked out of school. (He had stolen a test and they were both caught in possession of it.)

Phil then transferred to another school. The girl also transferred with him. By the way, she's 21, divorced, and has a child.

I demanded a showdown and Phil said he "loved" us both and couldn't decide between her or me.

My pride was hurt, so I locked him out, and now, of course, he is seeing her.

I still love him and regret locking him out. I don't want to lose him, but I couldn't take his running from her to me.

Please tell me how to get him back.

SORRY

DEAR SORRY: You could swallow what's left of your pride and ask Phil to reconsider, but after locking him out, I'd say you blew it.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I get so riled up when I read those pathetic letters signed, "Neglected Mother," or "Forgotten Father." They are from old folks who are not wanted by their children. Abby, I wonder if they have ever stopped to ask themselves why?

One day, many years ago, I came home from work and found my four children watching TV. When I poked my head into the room, they didn't even say hello. I was hurt and angry. Then I said to myself: "You fool! If you can't make yourself more interesting than that damned TV set, it's your own fault."

I admit, I used a bit of bribery in the form of peppermint candy and a few minor toys, but within a few days when I entered the house, there were hoots and hollers: 'Daddy's home!"

Old people should consider that their loneliness could be caused by themselves. Many are excused for being difficult because of their age. Why? No one has the right to be difficult whether he be young or old. Old age doesn't give one the license to complain all the time (we all have troubles), to talk all the time and reminisce too much (other people like to talk about themselves, too), or to expect constant attention.

Old people should make an effort to be good company. They should also have a hobby, so they can enjoy being alone.

I am 60 years of age, and if I grow old and nobody comes to see me, I hope I am wise enough to realize it's 99 per cent my own fault.

CHARLIE IN ROME

DEAR CHARLIE: Loneliness for you? I'll bet against it.

Health Hall...Fair Feature

RHINEBECK

An important by-product of the Dutchess County Fair for several years has been the Hall of Health, with screening tests for thousands.

Of the 2,144 persons who took the test last year at the fair, 869 received reports that called for further testing. The increase in referrals over the previous year was attributed to results of blood testing and peridontal checks.

Some changes in testing: the chest X-ray has been eliminated and venereal disease testing is an added feature. The Dutchess County health Department stressed that all information is confidential.

Dental examinations will be conducted by a dentist from the Oral Cancer Detection Unit at St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie.

Blood Chemistry testing will be done by personnel from Northern Dutchess Hospital in Rhinebeck. A local cardiologist will read electrocardiograms.

The New York State Department of Health will participate in veneral disease screening, an educational exhibit, and laboratory work.

Persons taking the tests will be notified by mail of positive or negative results. Those with positive results will be advised to consult a private physician for followup.

The Hall of Health will be staffed by public health nurses, other registered nurses, students from Hudson River State Hospital. The Dutchess-Columbia TB and Respiratory Disease Association is helping to recruit volunteers.

Tests will be administered to persons 21 and over from Aug. 21 through 28 at specified times.

Red Hook GOP Tabs Incumbents

RED HOOK

Mostly incumbents were nominated Thursday by the Town of Red Hook Republican Party to run for November town and county vacancies.

Madison Sipperley Jr., town Republican chairman, has received the party backing once again to seek the representative spot for District XXX in the newly reapportioned Dutchess districting.

District XXX covers all but the southwest corner of the Town of Red Hook. Sipperley has been a county representative since the board's inception in 1968.

And Robert Bowman, recently appointed town supervisor, will lead the Republican ticket for town jobs. Bowman has served as Red Hook village mayor for one term, and as a village trustee prior to that. He is general manager for Silver Lake Dairy in Red Hook.

Two new names in the political arena being put forward by the GOP are Robert Greig for a four-year term as councilman and Richard Griffiths for a two-year term as town justice.

Greig has been involved in farming in the town for about 30 years, and Griffiths has been Buildings and Grounds supervisor at Bard College for some time.

Incumbent candidates are Town Clerk Idella Agner; Councilman Bertrand Coons; Tax Collesctor Margaret Doty; and Highway Superintendent Lawrence Hagen.

Also, Town Justice Albert Trezza will run for a four year term, as Griffiths seeks the two-year vacancy.

Nicklaus Wanted to Prove Something

DETERMINATION—Jack Nicklaus has that look of determination on his face (L) as he pars the third hole during Sunday's PGA final round. At right, Nick admires trophy he won at the Canterbury Club in Cleveland. Nicklaus became golf's all-time leading winner of major championships with 14. (UPI)

CLEVELAND (UPI) — It takes more than a champion to beat the very best and there were none quite that good at Canterbury Sunday when Jack Nicklaus wrote himself into golfing history by winning the PGA National championship.

When the 33-year-old Nicklaus dropped his final putt for a last round 69 and a 72-hole total of 277, seven under par, he won his third PGA title and his 14th major championship, one more than the legendary Bobby Jones.

Australia's Bruce Crampton, the tour's leading money winner who finished second to Nicklaus for the third time in a major event, put it perfectly when he said: "It took the best in the world to beat me. I don't say this egotistically, but you don't beat the best when he does not make a mistake."

And that was Nicklaus through four rounds of golf played in stifling heat and on a demanding course. He made only five bogeys.

Listen to Tom Weiskopf, his friend and a fellow native Ohioan:

"You have a great champion. Jack Nicklaus is the greatest golfer who ever played the game."

Weiskopf is no slouch himself, having won five of his last 10 tournaments. He tied for sixth here.

Crampton was in contention until he bogeyed the 13th to fall three shots back, lost further ground on 16 and 17, but birdied the 18th for a 70 and 281 to be alone in second place.

Lanny Wadkins, 69; J. C. Snead, 71, and Mason Rudolph, 73, finished in a three-way tie at 282.

When Nicklaus juts his jaw out, straightens his back and "marches" down a golf course, the field had better take notice. It usually signifies Nicklaus means business.

And that is how Nicklaus was all week at Canterbury. But he wanted to prove something to himself and the only way he knew how was to go out and win.

Five times since his U.S. Open victory at Pebble Beach last year he had failed. Three times this year one morale-shattering round meant the difference between victory and defeat. People were beginning to talk, and there were suggestions Nicklaus had lost the urge to win because he had been on the championship route so often.

"I was tired of people asking me what was wrong, but more important, I wanted to prove to myself I would not screw up. I got up for the big ball game as I usually do."

That probably sums up Jack Nicklaus. He was "up" and if somebody wanted what he had, they had to fight him for it on the course.

Crampton tried; Don Iverson, a nobody before he arrived at Canterbury, made a brave run for 69 holes and then cracked; veteran Mason Rudolph threw the book at Nicklaus only to have it come back at him and he double-bogeyed the final hole to lose $13,791.67. There were Weiskopf and a few others, but none were able to make a run at Nicklaus.

Iverson, within three strokes of the lead, finished bogey-double bogey-par and lost a lot of change; Crampton bogeyed three of the last six holes before he nailed down second place with a birdie on No. 18; Jim Colbert choked on the last four, while Weiskopf, who made only six pars in a strange round, finished bogey-bogey.

But even great men are human and Nicklaus, with the title won and nothing to lose, bogeyed the last hole. He three-putted, missing the second from five feet.

Iversons' fall from grace probably was the most tragic. He was playing in his first major event and has won only small change compared with the great names of the game. His name had been on the leader board for the four days and 69 holes but then the pressure got to him. Those three finishing holes probably cost him in the region of $18,000.

Iverson earned $7,311.67.

But Iverson at least had the honor of finishing ahead of U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller, 69-217; Lee Trevino, a member of the millionaire club, 67-286, and defending champion Gary Player, 78-216. Arnold Palmer didn't even make the 36-hole cut.

Apart from his three PGA titles, Nicklaus has taken the U.S. Open three times; won four Masters titles, and two British Opens. He also won two U.S. Amateur titles.

There are no new fields for Nicklaus to conquer except, perhaps, a third grand slam of big four titles, so he'll need another British Open. This is no easy task when you consider only three other men—Player, Ben Hogan and Gene Sarazen—have even done it once.

But Nicklaus is far from through playing. "I intend to play for a long time," he told a questioner.

The $45,000 Nicklaus earned brought his 1973 winnings to $245,424, second only to Crampton, and his career figure to $1,949,129.

Crampton's second place finish was worth $25,700, while Wadkins, J. C. Snead and Rudolph picked up $11,908.

Asked if No. 14 meant anything special to him, he laughed and said, "I hope they don't put an asterisk against my name like they did Henry Aaron.

"Poor Roger Maris, Henry Aaron and me."

Golfing bugs may argue the merit of Nicklaus' wins against the achievements of Jones, but Crampton and Weiskopf speak for the players and they should know.

Jack Nicklaus has been king since 1964. All he did Sunday was make it official.

Weiskopf's Putter Cooled Him Off

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Tom Weiskopf found it a little hard to believe he didn't win the PGA Championship Sunday at Canterbury Golf Club.

Weiskopf, who had won five of his last nine tournaments, finished at one-under-par 283 and tied for sixth place with veteran Dan Sikes and young Don Iverson. He had a 71 Sunday.

But Weiskopf, playing a course only a few city blocks from where he grew up, felt he could very easily have won.

"I don't think I've ever missed so many short putts in a tournament in my life," Weiskopf said. "I played as well as anybody could. It just wasn't meant to be."

Weiskopf counted 10 putts of between three and five feet which he missed during the tournament's four days and said there were at least another half dozen of from five to eight feet which did not fall.

Although he tied for sixth place, it was his lowest finish in his last 10 tournament appearances and he sounded apologetic.

"You can only play good for so long," he said. "I'm glad the whole thing's over with."

Weiskopf said he still felt he had a chance to win the title going to the 16th hole, but he three-putted for a bogey six.

Weiskopf, who birdied four straight holes in one stretch from the 9th through the 12th, said the three-putt on the 16th hole came because he knew he had to make a birdie to have a chance to win.

"I just don't want to go out trying to lag the ball up to finish third, fourth or fifth," he said. "Money doesn't mean anything to me. I just play to win tournaments. If I don't, I don't care whether I finish fifth, tenth or twentieth."

Weiskopf, who shot three 71s and a 70 the four rounds of the PGA, said he was sorry the four major championships are over for the year.

"I really enjoy playing in them," he said. "I guess I'll just have to look forward to the Masters."

Weiskopf, who counted the British Open title among his string of recent victories, said, "I probably don't even realize how great that streak was. Maybe 20 years from now I will."

Weiskopf admitted, "I really would like to have won in my home town," but had high praise for champion Nicklaus, who grew up in the Columbus, Ohio, suburb of Upper Arlington, where Weiskopf now lives.

"You have a great champion," Weiskopf said. "Jack Nicklaus is the greatest golfer who ever played the game."

Secretariat Out of Travers

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (UPI) — Secretariat, the first horse in 25 years to win the Triple Crown, has been declared out of this Saturday's $100,000-added Travers Stakes for 3-year-olds here because of a cold.

The Meadow Stable colt, already syndicated for a record $6.08 million when he retires to stud next year, was found ailing over the weekend. The illness forced trainer Lucien Laurin to call off Tuesday's scheduled workout for "Super Red," and cancellation of the workout, Laurin said, would make it impossible to get Secretariat ready for the 1¼ mile Travers.

Secretariat, with over $900,000 in career winnings, was upset Aug. 4 by Onion in the Whitney Stakes. The next day, Laurin said, it was noticed that the horse's nose was running.

Laurin had two veternarians examine Secretariat and it was discovered the colt was also running a fever. The findings of the vets, Laurin said, prompted him not to enter Secretariat in the Travers.

In addition to winning the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes this year, Secretariat has also captured 10 of 14 other races he has entered in less than two full years of competition. He won the Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes in record times and there was some dispute that he also should have been credited with a record time in the Preakness.

After the Travers, Secretariat was next scheduled to run in a $250,000 match race Sept. 15 against stablemate Riva Ridge at Belmont Park. Laurin indicated it is still too early to tell how Secretariat's illness would affect that race.

Ille's Temper Could Be Costly

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Ilie Nastase should be $9,000 richer today after winning Sunday's Western Tennis Championships.

He isn't.

Nastase allegedly cursed the tournament referee and the flamboyant Romanian's $9,000 first prize check was withheld. Referee Jim Meakin told Nastase that officials of the United States Lawn Tennis Association (USLTA) will decide whether to pay him after reviewing an unsportsmanlike conduct complaint filed by Meakin.

Because Nastase had flown here directly from Bucharest, Romania for the tournament and because he flies to San Francisco today for Davis Cup play, tournament officials released $3,000 of the disputed $9,000 to Nastase to cover his expenses.

Nastase, top-seeded in the men's singles, defeated third-seeded Manuel Orantes of Spain, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4 in the finals Sunday. But during the first set, Nastase argued with a linesman over a call. Nastase picked up his racquets and started to walk off the court when he confronted Meakin.

"He said, '——you,' to me," Meakin said. "He also called me a dummy and told me to shut up when I was trying to interpret the rules."

Nastase returned to play and immediately got into another argument with the same linesman about another call. This time the call was reversed in Nastase's favor and Nastase asked that the linesman be kicked out, which he was.

The crowd of about 4,000 persons at the Queen City Racquet Club cheered when Nastase lost the first set, 5-7, but he rallied for wins in the next two sets and took the match.

Then came the bizarre awards ceremony, with the tournament chairman trying to present the runnerup award to Orantes while Meakin and Nastase walked about the court arguing about money.

"I beat everybody on the courts and I earn $9,000," Nastase said to Meakin, as a crowd of interested onlookers trailed the two. "Why do you not give me the money?"

Meakin tried to explain to Nastase that USLTA officials would determine whether he would get the money. Meakin pleaded with Nastase to make a public acceptance of the silver trophy.

"I fight on the court and I win, so where is my check?" Nastase continued to ask Meakin. "I play for what, the cup? Give me the check now and then you can take out what you want.

"Before the tournament you call me in Romanian and ask me to play," Nastase continued. "I played and I win, but no check. This is the last time I'll play here."

But just as tourney chairman J. Howard Frazer was explaining to the crowd that Nastase had refused to accept the trophy, Nastase had a change of heart. He accepted the trophy and took the public address microphone from Frazer.

"My temper is too much," Nastase told the crowd in his broken English. "I'm sorry because everybody don't like me. On the court, I'm bad, but I wish you knew me off the court. I know you don't give me the check—that's OK," Nastase said publicly. "But I accept the cup."

Ousted linesman Dick Seybold, 42, of Cincinnati, said the incident didn't bother him.

"I'm positive my calls were right," he said. "I still stand by them. Players have to get rid of their frustrations. That's why they raise so much hell. But I think it's ridiculous for Nastase to carry on like a child.

"I'm not worried because I've been thrown out of better places than here," added Seybold.

In other matches Sunday, John Alexander and Phil Dent of Australia rallied for a men's doubles finals win over Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. and Raul Ramirez of Mexico, 1-6, 7-6, 7-6. Unseeded Ilana Kloss and Pat Pretorius of South Africa topped the top-seeded Australian duo of Evonne Goolagong and Janet Young to take the women's doubles title, 7-6, 3-6, 6-2.

Miss Goolagong defeated Chris Evert, 6-2, 7-5, for the women's singles championship late Saturday night.

Margaret Court Strikes A Blow for Her Pride

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Margaret Court struck a blow for her pride, and inadevertently gave a prestige boost to tennis hustler Bobby Riggs, Sunday with a victory over Billie Jean King in the finals of the Virginia Slims Tennis Tournament.

The Australian's 6-3, 4-6, 6-2 win over Mrs. King was the first meeting of the two tennis stars since Mrs. Court's 6-0, 6-1 loss to Riggs several months ago. Mrs. King had criticized Mrs. Court's loss as an embarrassment to womens' tennis.

Mrs. Court refused to speculate on how Mrs. King would fare in her meeting with Riggs next month in a $100,000 winner-take-all match to restore the prestige of womankind.

"I played better than I played against Riggs," she said of her match with Mrs. King. "You can't compare because I didn't play (well) against Riggs at all."

Mrs. King left immediately after her rain-delayed defeat, explaining that she had to catch a plane. She and Rosemary Casals defaulted their semifinals doubles match.

Mrs. Court beat Miss Casals in a semifinal match Sunday before taking on Mrs. King for the championship later in the day.

"It was a long struggle," said Mrs. Court of her two matches. "I have been having trouble with a stomach muscle and it hurt some in the second set (against Mrs. King). I have to be careful and slow down a bit."

Both Mrs. Court and Mrs. King were visibly exhausted in the final set. Mrs. King groaned audibly after each serve.

"I was getting tired at that stage," said Mrs. Court. "I usually don't get as tired as I was. I was hoping I could beat her in straight sets because I didn't know how long I would last."

Brooks Found What He Needed

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UPI) — Californian Richard Brooks arrived for the Talladega 500 stock car race without a car.

"I needed $1,000 to complete my own car," said the 1969 NASCAR rookie of the year.

So he started looking around for a car and a sponsor for the race. It wasn't easy.

"Money and sponsors are hard to come by for a driver who has never won a race," said Brooks, of Portersville, Calif.

But Brooks, 31, entered the race Sunday and won it, thanks to the assistance of track managers who seated him in an Eastern Airlines-sponsored Plymouth, where he qualified 24th in the 50-car field.

Brooks won $20,815 in the race that was marred by the death of 1972 NASCAR rookie of the year Larry Smith, 30, of Lenoir, N.C., in a single-car wreck on the 14th lap.

At an average speed of 145.454 mph, Brooks crossed the finish line only 7.2 seconds ahead of Buddy Baker, whose tomato-red Dodge was leading with about 30 miles to go when an oil filter broke, triggering the last of seven caution flags that slowed the pace.

With most reports indicating that Brooks was a lap behind the leaders, David Pearson was in second place and appeared to have the victory in hand.

Instead he finished third behind Baker and brought his career earnings to $995,960, just shy of becoming the second million-dollar winner in NASCAR behind Petty.

When the green flag fell again with eight laps to go, Brooks trapped Pearson in slower traffic and shoved his Plymouth into the lead. Baker passed Pearson when his Mercury broke a valve.

Smith, driving a Mercury, was going into the No. 1 turn on the 14th lap when his right front tire blew, throwing his car into the retaining wall on the long banked curve.

Most track veterans agreed that the wreck did not appear serious with Smith's car sliding along the wall and then caroming into the infield after traffic cleared.

But Smith sustained massive head injuries and was pronounced dead on arrival at the infield hospital.

Brooks said he learned of Smith's death before the race ended.

"I don't know how," he said. "I just heard. I didn't think the wreck was that serious."

Betty Isn't A Bridesmaid

WADSWORTH, Ill. (UPI) — Betty Burfeindt, adopting the power of positive thinking, set a target score for herself and she was right.

She wanted to shoot a three-under-par 70 Sunday because she estimated that would win the $4,500 top prize in the LPGA's Child and Family Services Open. Instead she shot a 68, tying the course record, and won by three strokes with a seven-under-par 212 for 54 holes.

"After finishing second four times this year," she said, "I don't want to be considered a bridesmaid and I wanted to prove I could still win."

She made up eight strokes on front-running Debbie Austin in the final 18 holes and to her, it was no less an achievement than in two previous tournaments.

"In three of the four where I finished second," she said, "I came from behind and in two of the three I made up seven shots. In one I choked."

Miss Burfeindt's finish to win for the first time since the Sealy at Las Vegas in 1972 was on an even better performance than she had set as her target.

"I was four behind starting the day," she said, "and I knew I had to shoot a 70, in my mind, to win.

"I think by concentrating on at least a 70 and without worrying about what anybody else was doing, I concentrated on playing my best. I tried not to make any bogeys and putt for birdies. At least I was putting for birdies and I keep the pressure off myself. Everybody else was making bogeys and birdies and bouncing around and I knew my putts would start to drop and they did."

'We Didn't Deserve to Wear the Pinstripes'

Sam: 'It Was a Disgrace'

NEW YORK (AP) — "I don't think we'll win the pennant," said Sam McDowell of the New York Yankees. "We don't want it badly enough. "It makes me sick to my stomach. This was the most disgraceful game I've ever been associated with in my 13 years in the big leagues."

The crowd at Yankee Stadium was apt to agree with the New York left-hander after the Oakland A's erased a six-run deficit to pull out a wild 13-12 victory Sunday.

The Yankees made five errors—and several more that weren't listed in the box score.

"We didn't deserve to wear the pinstripes today," said a disgusted McDowell. "I've never in my life seen a team make so many mental mistakes. It was a disgrace."

McDowell refused to single out any of the Yankee culprits, except himself.

"As far as making mistakes, I'm right up there with the rest of the guys," said McDowell. "Hell, I made a mistake by grooving a pitch to Deron Johnson. I took something off the pitch. It was the stupidest thing I could have done. I had a big lead, so I eased up and gave him one."

Johnson hit his home run into the leftfield seats in the sixth inning with no one on base, so it wasn't the most damaging blow. The worst thing that happened to New York was the inability of the Yankee fielders to catch and throw the ball.

An error by Hal Lanier at shortstop allowed two Oakland runs to score in the fourth inning. Then in an outrageous seventh inning, when the A's scored six runs to tie the game at 11-11, the Yankees made two infield errors, one by second baseman Horace Clarke that allowed the tying run to score.

But—wait a minute—there was more grief in store for the Yankee fans, who booed their "heroes" throughout most of their inept play.

Reggie Jackson, who collected three hits and knocked in three runs, walked in the eighth off reliever Tom Buskey, 0-1. When Johnson singled to left, Jackson came all the way around to score the tie-breaking run when Nettles threw the relay wild past second trying to nail Johnson.

Johnson went to third on the play and then scored the eventual winning run on a sacrifice fly by Gene Tenace. Jim Ray Hart homered for the Yankees in the bottom of the ninth and then Rollie Fingers came in to get the last out after New York put men on first and second.

Symbolically, the game ended in a drenching rain.

"We just let it go down the drain," said McDowell. "We set the 'Pride of the Yankees' back 15 years."

DH Day

If American League President Joe Cronin has any historical and promotional sense, he'd designate every second Sunday in August "Designated Hitter Day."

For Sunday, August 12th was the day people were forced to recognize that the DH was not just another hitter:

The best performance was by Boston's Orlando Cepeda, who went five-for-five with a home run and California's Frank Robinson went three-for-four with two homers in the Red Sox' 14-8 victory over the Angels.

Red Sox 14, Angels 8

"I think I'm hitting the ball as good as ever," said Cepeda after his five-hit performance had sparked Boston to a 14-8 victory.

His recent 1973 stats, exclusively as a DH, make it hard to argue. He has hit in 16 consecutive games, going 27-for-64 in that stretch to raise his average to .302.

Brewers 10, Twins 9

The Dave May-George Scott combination is the greatest pair to hit Milwaukee since beer and bottles were first introduced to each other.

The "Milwaukee 2" were on trial again in the 10th inning, against Minnesota.

May stroked a two-out single for the tying run.

Scott then lashed his own single for the winning run as the Brewers came from behind to nip the Twins 10-9.

Tigers 6, White Sox 2

Designated hitter Gates Brown and Jim Northrup blasted home runs, powering the Detroit Tigers and Jim Perry to a 6-2 victory over Chicago.

It was the 16th triumph in 20 games since the All-Star break for the AL Eastern Division-leading Tigers.

Orioles 10, Royals 6

Earl Williams slammed a two-run homer and designated hitter Tommy Davis added a two-run triple, highlighting a third-inning rally that sparked the Orioles to a 10-6 decision over Kansas City.

Indians 7, Rangers 6

Walt Williams singled with two out in the 11th inning and came home on Chris Chambliss' double to give Cleveland a 7-6 success over Texas.

SOMETHING EXTRA—Vin Clements (29) of the Giants leaps forward trying for a few more yards as he is tackled by New England's Rich Cash during first quarter action Sunday night. Giants won, 13-7. (UPI)

Alex Experimented, Chuck Suffered

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — For the New York Giants, it was an exhibition game in which everyone played.

For the New England Patriots, it was a series of mental lapses.

But for the fans and history, it was a dull 13-7 win by the Giants in a National Football League Sunday night preseason contest.

Giants Coach Alex Webster said his primary concern was to look over his young players. "I think the big thing this week was that we shuttled a lot of people around. When our first team was in, we did a good job controlling the ball. But we experimented a lot in the first part of the game and we were a little unorganized."

New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks did not see what he was looking for.

"It was a very disappointing game because we played an undisciplined game. We had a lot of effort but it was all physical. We were stopped on a lot of our drives by our own mental lapses.

"The physical desire is no problem," he said. "It is not a case of driving the team. It's just a case of paying more attention to the details."

The Giants paid attention for three periods, building a 13-0 lead on field goals of 12 and 35 yards by Pete Gogolak and a nine-yard Norm Snead-to-Gary Ballman pass.

Randy Johnson played the first half, leading the Giants to their two field goals. Johnson, who completed 15 for 15 last weekend against the San Diego Chargers, connected on his first six tosses against New England before Joe Orduna dropped a pass.

Snead opened the second half and drove the Giants 80 yards in 11 plays, running on his bad legs for six yards to keep the march alive. University of Connecticut rookie Vin Clements, who ran 64 yards in 10 carries and collected 30 yards on three catches, spearheaded the drive.

New England's only score came at 0:03 of the final quarter on a Paul Gipson one-yard plunge against the flow to cap a 48-yard, six-play journey downfield.

Newly-acquired 5-foot-5 back Mack Herron set up the TD with a 50-yard punt return. Quarterback Brian Dowling, subbing for ineffective Jim Plunkett, was aided by a Giant offsides that offset a missed field goal and a 31-yard pass interference call that brought the ball to the two.

New England's bid to win the game late in the final period was snuffed out by a penalty. Plunkett had scrambled 17 yards to the Giants 20 but the play was called back because of holding.

The Kansas City Chiefs play host to the Detroit Lions tonight to wind up the second big weekend of NFL preseason activity.

In Saturday night's action, Miami edged New Orleans 14-13, Cincinnati bombed Philadelphia 45-21, Atlanta topped Baltimore 34-20, Minnesota topped Pittsburgh 10-6, Chicago whipped Houston 34-7, Green Bay outlasted Buffalo 10-3, Oakland edged Dallas 27-26, St. Louis topped San Diego 17-13, the New York Jets whipped San Francisco 34-14, and Cleveland tied Los Angeles 10-10.

Reserve quarterback Jim Del Gaizo hit Dave Rather with a 10-yard touchdown pass in the final quarter to help Miami beat New Orleans; George Blanda's 16-yard field goal with four seconds left pushed Oakland past Dallas; Ken Anderson hit on 10 of 11 first half passes for Cincinnati; Gary Huff threw touchdown passes of 22, 15 and 12 yards for Chicago and John Brockington's touchdown helped Green Bay past Buffalo.

Pat Sullivan connected with Art Malone for a six-yard touchdown pass for Atlanta's winning TD; rookie Greg Pruitt scored the tying touchdown for Cleveland; Donny Anderson scored twice for St. Louis; Joe Namath tossed two touchdown passes for the Jets and Bobby Bryant returned an intercepted pass 93-yards for a TD for Minnesota.

Bryant... Upstaged Again

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ron Bryant, the top winner among National League pitchers, has been upstaged again.

His San Francisco teammate Tito Fuentes and former teammate Willie Mays got more applause Sunday in the Giants' 4-1 Mets that made left-hander victory over the New York Bryant 17-8 this baseball season.

Fuentes drove in all the Giants' runs with a three-run home run in the fifth inning and a double in the eighth.

The 42-year-old Mays played first base for the Mets in what was billed as possibly his last playing appearance in his former home ballpark. He drew a standing ovation from the crowd of 13,490 before his first at-bat but was hitless for the day.

Bryant's six-hit pitching was somewhat unnoticed, just as his success was overlooked last month when he was left off the National League All-Star team. He allowed the Mets only one run, and that was unearned.

Aiming for 20

The southpaw is aiming for his first 20-victory season, but said Sunday, "I've got to go after the 18th first. Everyone has been talking about 20 wins. It kind of reminds me of when everyone was talking about me going to the All-Star game."

Another southpaw, Ray Sadecki, was Sunday's loser. With better luck, he might have come out of the fifth inning still pitching with a 1-0 lead.

Sadecki struck out the first two Giant hitters in the inning but then walked Bryant. Garry Maddox followed with a line drive to left field that John Milner misjudged, backing up before charging the ball and arriving too late to do anything but trap it.

"I didn't lose it in the sun or anything," said Milner. "The wind took it and the thing just dove."

Fuentes then slammed a 3-1 pitch far down the left field line to put the Giants ahead. It was the fifth homer of the year for the switch-hitting second baseman.

"All five have been hit right-handed and all of them were at Candlestick Park," said Fuentes. "If I'm going to do something, I want to do it in front of my friends."

LEFT HIS HEART IN SAN FRANCISCO—Willie Mays, making what may be his last appearance in uniform in Candlestick Park, received a standing ovation from the crowd as he and manager Yogi Berra (R) walked to the dugout prior to Sunday's Mets-Giants game. Mays played for 14 years in San Francisco with the Giants. (UPI)

Reds Are Hot

August is hot, but the Cincinnati Reds are hotter.

The surging Reds continue to pressure Los Angeles' front-running Dodgers in the suddenly tight National League West race thanks to a pace that's even hotter than the weather.

When the Reds whipped St. Louis 7-2 Sunday, it stretched Cincinnati's current winning streak to five straight and eight victories in the last nine games. Manager Sparky Anderson's crew has logged a 33-10 record since July 1, chopping 9½ games off Los Angeles' once awesome West Division bulge.

The Dodger lead remained at 1½ games over the streaking Reds as Los Angeles rallied to beat Philadelphia 2-1.

Cincinnati 7, St. Louis 2

Pete Rose's second double keyed a five-run second inning struggling Cardinals. It was the that carried the Reds past the seventh straight loss for St. Louis and chopped the Redbirds' NL East lead to three games over Montreal and Pittsburgh.

Dodgers 2, Phillies 1

The Dodgers came from behind to beat Steve Carlton and the Phillies 2-1.

Greg Luzinski's 19th homer accounted for the game's only run until the eighth inning. Then, rookie catcher Joe Ferguson tagged a pinch homer, tying the score for Los Angeles.

In the ninth, the Dodgers pushed across the deciding run on consecutive singles by rookies Tom Paciorek, Steve Yeager and Dave Lopes.

Astros 3, Cubs 2

Stumbling Chicago dropped its eighth straight with Jimmy Wynn scoring Houston's winning run in the eighth inning of a 3-2 victory.

Wynn walked in the eighth, raced to third on Cesar Cedenos' single and scored on an infield out.

Pete Zeeh Returns to County Tennis Play

KINGSTON

The Ulster County Tennis Tournament has an added dimension this year. Pete Zeeh, one of the area's all-time greats, returns to competition after a three-year retirement. His No. 1 target in the current tournament, of course, would be his brother, Bill Zeeh, champion for the past two seasons.

Pete is a former singles and doubles champion in the Ulster event and nobody will be surprised if it comes down to an all-Zeeh finals in the singles. And then, of course there is always the possibility that the Brothers Zeeh will show up in the finals of the men's doubles competition. The older Zeeh has been seeded No. 2.

Jim Boyd and Peter Boyd were among the first round winners in the men's singles division already under way at Forsyth Park. Jim defeated Edwin Basch, 6-2, 6-4, while Peter eliminated George Baker by identical scores.

Other singles results:

Marshall Lipton won over Bob Darling, 6-0, 6-1; Kalh Kalleberg zipped Bill Tochterman, 6-0, 6-0; Fred Schwitz zipped Charlie Farley, 6-0, 6-0; George Martin over Jerry Prendergast, 6-1, 6-4; Joe Hevesi over Ron Schoonmaker, 6-2 and default.

Doug Struber over Louis Sadler, 6-2, 6-4; Peter Boyd over George Baker, 6-2, 6-4; Bill Carr over Howard Rankin, 6-2, 6-4; Josh Koplovitz over Bill Schechter, 2-5, 5-7 and 6-1; Bernie Schafer over Shawn Northrup, 6-3, 6-1; Peter Fowler over Vic Melville, 6-1, 6-1.

Rich Rumble, the Saugerties table tennis and tennis whiz, teamed with Phil Basch to win a hard-earned three-set victory over Harry Bubnack and Kalh Kalleberg in one of the key matches in the men's doubles division opener. The scores were 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

In another three-setter, Josh Koplovitz and Bill Schechter turned back Rob Darling and Bryan Halterman, 6-1, 6-8, 6-1. Other results were: Carl Hubert-Brent Ross over Jerry Prendergast — John Farrell, 6-3, 6-4; Tony Badalato and Rich Griffin over Ron Schoonmaker-John Schoomaker, 7-5, 6-3; Nick Fowler and John Roberts over Edwin Basch-Bill Hoffay, 6-2, 6-2.

Dan Galyan and Larry Valentine stopped Avery Smith and George Martin, 6-4, 6-4.

In two women's doubles matches, Margot Vestegaard and Paula Hutton teamed for a 1-6, 6-2, 6-1 victory over Rose Koplovitz and Sue Dean, while Mary Jo Avery and Nancy Edwards won over Rose Boyd and Pat Boyd, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

In mixed doubles, Abel Garraghan and Nancy Edwards eliminated John Ivankovic and Ann Marks, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, and Aileen Cramer and George Baker checked Deidre DiDonna and Dan Gaylon 6-3, 6-1.

The matches continue on a daily basis at Forsyth Park. The top seeds in the men's singles division are in order: Bill Zeeh, Pete Zeeh, Dick Smith, Dick Little and Pete Boyd.

Mahogany Ridge Bs and O&A Maintain Pace

SAUGERTIES

Mahogany Ridge B's and Orville and Arlene's continued their winning ways with identical 11-1 wins to pull away from the pack in the B Division of the Saugerties Softball League.

• • •

The Ridgers checked Fire Department behind the seven-hit pitching of Harold Swat, who notched his ninth win in 10 starts, while Mouse Wolven (9-2) was also limiting Sperl's Pakkers to seven hits. Ridgers are now 10-1, with O & A a game behind at 9-2.

In other games, Ted's Exxon 'stopped' Sperls Pakkers, 14-0, On John Hinchey's four-inning three-hitter and Mahogany's picked up their second win of the week with a 9-3 decision over Ted's Exxon. Fire Department edged Rosner's Oasis, 6-5.

Steve Perks slammed a triple and two singles for the Ridgers. Bill Perks added three singles and two RBIs and John Speirs hit a double and single. Don Kaminski and Charlie Hudson hit two singles and Tom Speirs had a double and three RBIs against Exxon. Bob Owens singled twice for Exxon's.

Bill Hanna knocked in four runs with a homer and single for O & A's. Hank Sommers (three RBIs) and John Freligh each has three singles.

SEA COLLISION — The 6,500-ton car ferry "Seto" is jammed in superstructure of 189-ton freighter after the two ships collided Sunday in waters off Matsuyama, Japan. Small boats at left aid in rescue of crewmen. One person was reported killed in the incident and nine others injured. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Boy Scouts Organization Offers Apology

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — The Boy Scouts of America organization has apologized to the Japanese-American Citizens League for a joke comedian Bob Hope told at the scouts Jamboree-West gathering in Idaho.

Hope allegedly used the word "Jap" in a joke at the jubilee's opening session.

Alden Barber, chief executive for BSA, made the apology in a telephone call to Ben Nakagawa of Seattle, and asked that the apology be conveyed to members of Seattle Scout Troop 53, sponsored by the Japanese Baptist Church.

Hope's public relations director, Ward Grant, said the comedian's script called for Hope to use the word "Japanese."

However, both major Seattle newspapers reported Sunday that the word, "Jap," was clearly heard on a recording made by Don Winder, 15, Edmonds, Wash.

It's a question of maturity.

A lot of people don't buy U.S. Savings Bonds because they think it takes them 10 years to mature. Take another look. The old green Bond ain't what it used to be. Now Bonds mature in less than 6 years.

That's one reason Bonds are so popular nowadays. They're simple to buy, and one of the surest ways to build a nest egg for something (or someone) special.

U.S. Savings Bonds. Maturity at 5 years, 10 months. If you don't want to use that money right away, there's a 10-year extension privilege. Either way, you'll find that Bonds mature at just the right age for you.

Take stock in America.

Bonds mature in less than six years.
New E Bonds pay 5½% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Appointment Is Listed

ALBANY

Governor Rockefeller's office has announced the appointment by the State Atomic and Space Development Authority (ASDA) of Wells P. Allen Jr. of Binghamton, executive vice-president of the New York State Electric and Gas Corporation, to the authority's Nuclear Power Site Committee.

The committee was established in 1969 to advise ASDA in the selection, acquisition and development of sites for new nuclear power generating facilities.

Allen, who will represent the New York Power Pool on the committee, succeeds Thomas C. Duncan, former executive director of the Power Pool.

Record High In Rochester

ACCORD

Mrs. Arthur Woitasek, chairman of the 1973 Cancer Crusade in the Town of Rochester, reported that a record high of $1,756.30 had been raised in the town, exceeding last years' figure by $411. The town goal for 1973 was $1,500.

She expressed thanks and appreciation to the many workers and contributors in the community whose generous support made the achievement possible.

The annual Crusade supports programs of research, education and service to cancer patients.

Cancer Drive Phase Ends

TOWN OF ESOPUS

The door-to-door collection phase of the Town of Esopus Cancer Crusade has concluded just $92 short of the 1973 quota of $2,000.

Ethel Howard and Jack Reynolds, Cancer Drive co-chairmen for the town, expressed appreciation for the work of volunteer canvassers and for the donations of residents contacted.

Anyone not contacted who wishes to contribute may mail check to Town of Esopus Cancer Crusade, Box 484, Port Ewen 12466, payable to American Cancer Society. It is hoped that mail contributions will complete the quota.

Registration Set

Families moving into the Onteora Central School District with children who will be entering grades 7-12 this September should contact the Guidance Office at the high school as soon as possible for an appointment to fill out necessary registration forms and to prepare a program of studies for the school year. Early contact with the school will guarantee more of a choice of subjects, since some subjects are limited to class size. Families should contact the Guidance office between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. for an appointment to register. The school requests that the following telephone numbers be used: 657-2373, 679-2475 and 688-2246.

Presentation Set

The Third New York Regiment will present a day in the life of an American Revolutionary War Soldier here on August 19 from noon to 8 p.m. at New Windsor Cantonment. Featured will be cannon firing, musket drill, artillery demonstrations and various colonial crafts. There will also be a fife and drum demonstration at 2:30 p.m.

Meeting Planned

The Mid-Hudson Valley Gem and Mineral Society will hold its's monthly meeting Aug. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Trinity Episcopal Parish House, Route 9 in Fishkill. Slides concerning field trips will be shown, and executive vice president Mike Sachter will report on his recent trip to the Eastern Federation Convention.

ATTENTION JOB APPLICANTS
The Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help Wanted ads from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than the legal minimum wage or fail to pay at least time and one-half for overtime hours. The minimum wage for employment covered by the FISA prior to the 1966 Amendments is $1.85 an hour with overtime pay required after 40 hours a week. Jobs covered as a result of the 1966 Amendments require $1.80 an hour minimum with overtime pay required after 40 hours a week. For specific information contact the Wage and Hour Office of the U. S. Department of Labor, 231 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452, WYandotte 3-1235.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: The new York State Law against Discrimination and the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibits discrimination in employment because of sex unless based on a bona fide occupational qualification. Help Wanted and Situation Wanted advertisements are arranged in columns captioned "Male" and "Female" for the convenience of readers and are not intended as an unlawful limitation or discrimination based on sex.

Your Horoscope

Tuesday, August 14

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Morning finds you able to be more direct in gaining personal wishes and you can better understand also what your friends want from you, but the afternoon and evening bring a sudden feeling you are not succeeding in reducuing overall aims to a workable success, so adjust this.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Morning is fine for discussing whatever is uppermost on your mind with associates and getting good results. Be more willing later in the day to assist others with their problems. Forget own worries and show you are poised.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Handle public and credit affairs wisely and take care that another does not cause you to lose a good friend. Show sympathy and warm-heartendness, although actions of others may puzzle you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Morning is best time to get out to new sites, meet with new contacts. Later you can handle those routine matters connected with your career. Study whatever can be educational for you. Think.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Being very conscientious in handling duties in a.m. is fine, but take care you do not run off on any tangents later. Get together with experts and become more efficient in your career work.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Take time to please an associate before you start work awaiting your attention. Listen to what bigwigs suggest for your advancement. Follow their leads wisely.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept. 22) You need to handle much work early before you tackle the problem of coming to a better understanding with an associate. Forget the fun side of your existence until all your work is behind you. Think constructively.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Contact those whose ideas of fun are similar to yours and make appointments for social activities early. Then you can do the creative work you like. But you need recreation just at this time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make sure you get house in order and kin feeling happy before you leave for recreation. Do not spend more than you can afford. Purchase that new convenience for home and please mate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can put through measures that will add appreciably to present income, so do just that before you discuss them with others. Then get into regular routines. Plan time for improving any real estate you may have.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Morning is best for handling monetary matters, then write letters and take care of any other necessary communication. Listen to what an expert has to say about making repairs to property. Get good ideas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) First get hour health improved, then you can tackle financial problems intelligently. Make appointments for the social early so you won't be disappointed in p.m. Dress in elegant style.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) First make the right plans to gain your aims, then plow through with vim and vigor and you get fine results. Sit down with clever advisers and plan the future more intelligently. Show your true ability.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those charming young people who will want to have many friends and be very active early in life, but in midstream will feel so disappointed with others that the recluse could emerge here. So be sure to teach moderation in all things while young and give as fine an education as possible, then your youngster can have a successful life. Also, right diet is important to overcome a frail body.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Men of note are not always in tune with things.

Some practitioners of musical scales sound pretty fishy, tunewise.

There's a new computer that matches couples and also figures the future alimony.

We couldn't carry a tune if it had handles riveted on both ends.

After they run-out the Watergate hearings, how will the networks ever regain their soap opera addicts?

On Capitol Hill, there are a good many persons desperately seeking to latch on to a credibility grap.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

PEELER: (Q): I'm down in the dumps. All my friends, both boys and girls, have beautiful suntans. All I have is a burn.. In a day or two I won't even have that, because it will start peeling.

At parties, with everybody else all tan, I look like a ghost. Is there anything in the whole wide world that will give me a good tan? — Soft-Skinned Boy in Maryland.

(A) A deep, genuine tan is fashionable, but the absorption of sunlight that it requires can damage the skin. In baking themselves, your friends are asking for old skin early in life.

You should not, with your tender skin, try for a real suntan. For parties or other special events, you can apply tanning lotion the night before, leave it on while you sleep, and look like you have been out soaking up sun.

Follow the directions carefully, and do not overdo it, because this lotion, too, may dry your skin.

BRIDE AT 17? (Q) My boy friend has just finished high school. We love each other very much and want to get married when I finish in May of 1974. His parents say it is a great idea. My parents don't think we should because I will be only 17 and they think it is too young.

My boy friend, who is already 18, and I know everything will work out. If my parents still say no when the time comes, should we run off or should we wait 'til I am old enough? I don't want to wait. — Ready in Texas.

(A) I agree with your parents that you will be too young at 17 for marriage, and I believe it would be a mistake to run away and get married against their wishes.

But why fret more than nine months ahead? You may change your mind. Your boy friend may change his mind. Your parents may change their minds.

'The Old Redhead' Is Back

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball on TV is old hat today. But it all started in Brooklyn 34 years ago, with the Hon. Red Barber presiding over blurry, black-and-white history.

As one newspaper put it then, "Major league baseball made its television debut as the Dodgers and Reds battled through two games at Ebbets Field before two prying electric 'eyes' of station W2XBS.."

The station belonged to NBC, which has brought Barber out of retirement to be guest commentator for tonight's nationally televised baseball show, pitting Cincinnati against Pittsburgh.

Things are a bit different now. Six color cameras will cover the game, slow-motion replays will abound and the price of a 60-second commercial will exceed an NBC vice president's salary for all of 1939.

The Old Redhead recalls his TV debut well, partly because he didn't have a TV monitor to help him describe the pictures a few hundred viewers were seeing.

"I was supposed to have a headset which would connect me with the director, Burke Crotty, outside in a truck," said the 65-year-old dean of American sportscasters.

"He was supposed to tell me from time to time what pictures he was getting so I could make some reference to it. Well, that communication broke down.

"Now, when a camera came on, a red light on the camera would go on. So I tried to look at the two cameras to see which one had the red light going. I tried to see approximately where the camera was pointing."

Barber began in 1930 as a 35-cents-an-hour announcer and sportscaster for the campus radio station at the University of Florida, where he was working his way through school.

It led to a $25-a-week job in 1934 as a staff announcer at a Cincinnati radio station, where he covered Reds games five years.

Then came 15 years—and his greatest fame—as the voice of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

He hung it up in 1966 after 13 years of broadcasting New York Yankees games and now lives in Tallahassee, Fla., where he writes a weekly newspaper sports column and a monthly essay for Sports Digest.

Oswald: "Sonny Moyse was similar to us in that when he got married he got the better of the deal. Jackie, his wife, played fairly good bridge, but Sonny wrote many articles describing some outrageous play by Jackie."

Jim: "Jackie probably would have killed him if it weren't for the fact that her outrageous plays always worked."

Oswald: "The correct play of today's slam is for South to win the heart lead, draw trumps and go after diamonds. Assuming the suit breaks 4-2, South makes all the tricks."

Jim: "Sonny's story was that he was called to the phone as the hand was being dealt and got back to find that Jackie had picked up his hand and bid to six spades. He wanted to play but the opponents insisted that since Jackie had bid it she had to play it."

Oswald: "Jackie won the heart lead and led a low heart at trick two. The best West could do was to ruff with the three-spot. Jackie overruffed with the five, drew trumps and had 12 tricks in spite of the bad diamond break. Her play only worked because East held the 9-8-6 of spades, but it worked, which is what counts when the score is added up."

Cambodians Evacuate Key Northern Town

By FREDERICK H. MARKS

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — A furious rebel assault Sunday drove Cambodian troops from a key northern town the government soldiers had used as a refuge center from earlier fighting that cost them 300 casualties, military sources said today.

The sources said that after the government troops evacuated Skoun, a government bastion at the junction of Highways 6 and 7, Cambodian aircraft began bombing the rebel-held town but no details of the raids were available.

A U.S. pilot taking part in the strkes around Skoun said, "The situation is grim and untenable."

The sharp fighting was in contrast to a lull in activity around Phnom Penh. Government troops took advantage of the letup to consolidate and expand the capital's defense perimeter in anticipation of the U.S. bombing halt less than 48 hours away.

But exiled Cambodian leader Prince Norodom Sihanouk today said victory for his forces in Cambodia "is already practically achieved." North Korea's semiofficial KCNA news agency, monitored in Tokyo, reported Sihanouk's remarks at a farewell banquet in Pyongyang.

Forces loyal to Sihanouk control about 70 per cent of Cambodia and the rebels two weeks ago drove to within three miles of Phnom Penh before suddenly disappearing from the capital's fringes, apparently regrouping for what some intelligence reports say will be a new offensive on the city after Wednesday's bomb halt.

The agency quoted Sihanouk as saying " . . . a final, total and irreversible victory of the peoples' armed forces in Cambodia already is practically achieved."

America's air campaign in Cambodia must end Wednesday under an agreement between President Nixon and Congress, but U.S. warplanes took advantage of their final hours of bombing overnight to blast around the capital.

Concussions from the bombing reverberated through the capital all through the night but today's raids were curtailed by low clouds and monsoon rains.

Israelis Defend Jetliner Seizure

By United Press International

Israel defended its seizure of a Lebanese jetliner as "self-defense" but said today U.S. disapproval of the act made passage of a U.N. Security Council condemnation likely.

A government spokesman "there have been contacts with the United States" on Friday's interception of the plane .Israel forced it to land in a military field inside Israel in the belief it carried Palestinian guerrilla leader George Habash and other leaders.

I have my sincere doubts that the United States will veto a motion against Israel," said one official. The United States vetoed last month a Security Council resolution demanding that Israel withdraw from all occupied Arab territories.

This time, he said, Washington was not expected to back Israel, judging by a statement from the U.S. State Department Saturday deploring the action.

The criticism was matched by the Israel Airline Pilots' Union which previously backed Israel's tactics to prevent threats to civil aviation.

Chairman Itzhak Shaded, a flight captain for the government-owned El Al airline, said "We cannot accept a deed like this even when the purpose was the capture of the No 1 criminal against civil aircraft."

"I see absolutely no reason to describe this as a hijack," said a government official. It was a preventive action . . . Israel acted in self-defense since no one else was doing the job."

"Acts of piracy have been committed by Habash and his group, and what we have been looking for is the pirate," the government official said.

"Before you have international criticism you must have international action," said Israeli Transport Minister Shimon Peres, calling for heightened multilateral action to combat hijacking and guerrilla attacks.

"We have the right to protect ourselves, said Health Minister Victor Shemtov. "This is what the world must understand."

To back Israel's stand that it had not set a precedent, the Foreign Ministry issued a "background paper" which said France in 1956, Algeria in 1967 and Libya in 1971 had forced international civilian aircraft to land, in each cases arresting passengers for political reasons.

Calling Habash "the master of murderers," Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said Saturday the operation was not a military failure. He said the guerrilla leaders "are a little bit scared of what happened and they have to change their plans somewhat."

Habash, leader of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP), said in Beirut his Marxist organization has stopped the hijacking of aircraft 'but Israel, which was condemning us all the time, is practicing it now."

"I think Israel and (President) Nixon should be ashamed after now to talk about terrorism and hijacking," Habash said in an exclusive interview for UPITN, the television division of United Press International.

Spiro's Documents Combed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. attorney's office was prepared today to begin picking through a mountain of subpoenaed documents spanning Spiro T. Agnew's past public years in an investigation of Maryland political corruption.

Agnew was told about two weeks ago by U.S. Atty. George Beall of Baltimore that the vice president was under investigation for possible bribery, extortion, conspiracy and income tax law violations in connection wth a probe of corruption in Baltimore County and the state of Maryland.

Agnew has unequivocally denied any charges that he accepted political payoffs, calling them "damn lies" and added that he had "absolutely nothing to hide."

Subpoenas were issued last week to the Maryland Hall of Records and the State Board of Election Laws for Agnew's campaign records.

On Friday, Morris L. Radoff, state archivist and records administrator, said the attorney's office would send a representative Monday to select records it wants.

He said the combing of the documents was necessary because "it would take a truck" to haul all of them. Radoff is to appear before the grand jury Thursday.

The subpoenas call for all papers and records pertaining to Agnew and a former Agnew aide back through 1962. But a check with state officials showed that records on file only go back as far as 1966, the year Agnew successfully ran for governor.

It has been reported that some of the documents will show Agnew received political contributions from some of those being investigated by Beall for alleged kickbacks and bribes.

In its report, The Washington Star-News said Sunday it obtained copies of the records. The newspaper said "almost all the donations appear to be in accord with the election laws then in effect."

The records covering his 1966 gubernatorial campaign and his vice presidential races in 1968 and 1972 show that consulting engineers, architects and other contractors doing business with the state contributed significant sums of money, the newspaper reported.

The Star-News also said many of the same contractors also made contributions to Democratic Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel's 1969 campaign.

There is no legal prohibition against corporate contributions in Maryland elections.

Conventional Tasks for Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon returned to conventional duties today after five days of work on his first major message on Watergate in three months.

The President with the help of White House aides, including Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, chief of staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. and speech writer Raymond Price, reviewed the Watergate case from Wednesday through Sunday at his Camp David retreat.

Nixon returned to the White House Sunday night to prepare for today's ceremonial signing of the $20 billion highway bill that includes expenditures for urban mass transit for the first time.

The White House has given no indication what direction the President's message on Watergate would take, although it has been suggested that he might address the nation in a televised speech sometime this week.

There was also some speculation that a bipartisan group of congressmen would be invited to sit with the President during the address, rather than have the television cameras catch him in isolation as in his May 22 television speech on the scandal.

The Washington Star-News reported that Nixon's speech would be more "emotional" than substantive, recalling the end of the U.S. presence in Vietnam, renewed relations with China and two summit meetings with the Soviet Union.

The Star-News said a counterattack to charges raised against Nixon during the Senate Watergate committee hearings would be answered in a compatible brief now being prepared by Nixon's special counsel, J. Fred Buzhardt. The newspaper said Buzhardt's brief would respond point-for-point to allegations made by former White House counsel John W. Dean III.

GRAND UNION ROUNDS UP MORE BEEF

A "BEEF ACTION" PROGRAM TO SERVE YOU BETTER

Supermarkets are still encountering shortages in the supply of beef. Normally Grand Union buys its beef from packers, but many have closed down.

To maintain normal beef supplies, Grand Union is continuing to buy beef directly from the rancher. This beef is processed in Government inspected plants, to meet the high standards for quality beef you expect fromGrand Union.

Our "Beef Action" program has increased beef demand in Grand Union stores since we are serving both our regular customers and many new shoppers. So, occasionally we may not have your favorite cuts...but, we plan to make this an exception, not a rule.

Buying directly from the ranch is costlier for Grand Union since adequate beef is not available from other sources. But we feel it necessary to do this so we can provide beef to meet your requirements.

And, remember, Grand Union retail beef prices continue to be in full compliance with Phase IV regulations of the Economic Stabilization Act.

WE'RE HERE TO SERVE YOU... THROUGH "BEEF ACTION" WE SERVE YOU BETTER!
